

Inez Rakes Islands in Caribbean Hits Puerto Rico, Veers to Domingo

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) —Hurricane Inez, a killer storm that left at least five dead and vast damage on the Caribbean Islands of Guadeloupe, raked Puerto Rico with gales today and churned relentlessly toward the densely populated Dominican Republic.

At the same time more than 1,000 miles to the east, the 10th tropical storm of the season, Judith, boiled up in the tropical Atlantic.

New Storm Born
Satellite pictures showed that Judith grew to storm intensity not far south of the spot where Inez began her long and murderous journey.

Gales began lashing the vacation island of Puerto Rico during the morning and were expected to keep it up during most of the day as the tightly coiled storm whipped about 75 miles south.

Slashing rains fell. The Weather Bureau warned that heavy flooding was a danger on the low-lying southern side of the island. Storm tides expected to rush five to eight feet above normal and pounding surf added to the peril even though San Juan apparently would be spared Inez' peak winds of 120 miles an hour.

The Weather Bureau warned the eight million people in the Dominican Republic and Haiti that they were in the direct path of the storm's arrow - straight westerly course.

Top at 45 M.P.H.
Judith also spun westerly toward the often-battered Windward Islands from a spot about 2,000 miles southeast of Miami, Fla. Forecasters said the satellite pictures indicated top winds were 45 m.p.h. but could be much higher. A hurricane hunter plane will check the storm's development tonight.

Fragmentary reports from the islands of Guadeloupe said at least five people were killed and many injured. Roads, bridges, homes and sugar and coffee plantations were reported heavily damaged.

A schoolhouse and a church were swept away. Two persons drowned when their boat was wrecked by the dashing seas. The Overseas Ministry in Paris said that a housing development at the airport at Pointe a Pitre, the capital, was flooded, and residents had to be rescued by military trucks.

A French naval ship from Martinique was sent to help the storm victims on the tropic island chain.

Plan Conference For Region Study By Progress Unit

A fall conference on the "State of the Region" will be sponsored by Mid-Hudson Pattern for Progress, Inc., according to Lelan F. Sillin Jr., chairman.

The conference will be held to consider the impact on the region of a number of issues, including legislation in such fields as the Pure Waters Program and the development of the Hudson River Valley.

The Board of Directors of Pattern for Progress, at its meeting Tuesday afternoon at State University College, New Paltz, voted unanimously to sponsor the conference to afford an opportunity for residents of the region to receive progress reports on matters of regional interest.

The conference will be open to the public and the date will be announced in the near future. Sillin said that Pattern for Progress, a seven-county regional planning organization met yesterday to discuss a number of issues in broad fields affecting the future of the region. C. David

Chamber Starts Nine-Week Political Course Tonight

Today Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Ulster County praised members of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce for their efforts in sponsoring an action course in practical politics, and is hopeful that the nine week series of lectures, which will begin tonight at the Gov. Clinton Hotel would be widely attended by area residents who wish to learn more about politics. Tonight's opening session will get underway at 7:30 o'clock.

Wilson, who is also the Ulster County Republican Chairman, cited the fact that during the past few years the Chamber of Commerce has been sponsoring these courses in Ulster

Cabinet Officer Will Tour Ellenville-Kingston Area

U. S. Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall will be directed on a tour of the Ulster County area between Ellenville and Kingston this Friday. His guide will be Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick.

The secretary will arrive in Ellenville this evening, and spend the night at Nevele Country Club. He and Congressman Resnick are scheduled to depart from the Nevele Friday at 8 a. m., to drive the 10 miles to Sams Point, near Lake Maratanza, southeast of Ellenville, off Route 52. Sams Point is a scenic summit with an elevation of 2200 feet.

A helicopter will pick up the party at Sams Point and fly to historic High Falls, arriving approximately 10 a. m. There Congressman Resnick will show the secretary century-old locks, slips, and towpaths of the Delaware and Hudson Canal, where it has been turned into a park by people of the village.

John Novi, president of the D&H Canal Historical Society, Inc., will present the secretary with a book describing the canal in its operational days.

The party will then fly direct-

They will then drive to Kingston, to lunch at Governor Clinton Hotel and to tour the area.

Skeptical of Manila Talks

Republicans Doubt Political Impact

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republicans discount the political impact of President Johnson's pre-election trip to the Manila summit conference of leaders of nations battling Communist forces in Viet Nam.

They believe the meeting offers little hope of Viet Nam peace initiatives.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen gave this GOP viewpoint in an interview: "You're not going to stop the war there at this point."

Sees More 'Society'

Dirksen, who has supported the President's course in Southeast Asia, indicated he suspects the seven-nation Manila meeting in mid-October might wind up with a promise for the extension of the "Great Society" to all of Asia.

"That is where we Republicans will come in," he said. "We will want to know how it is proposed to finance an extension of the Great Society benefits to the whole world."

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said in a prepared Senate speech that while the meeting is desirable as a show of unity over Viet Nam policy, "it would be unfortunate if the Manila conference, like the Honolulu conference, promised much and accomplished little."

"The gap between the reforms pledged at Honolulu and the reforms carried out by the Saigon government still remains embarrassingly large," he said.

"Therefore, I urge the President to clarify his objectives and to make sure they are attainable, and not to raise expectations that cannot be fulfilled."

Thinks Minds Made Up

He said the Communists' rejection of recent U.S. peace overtures may result in "mounting pressures for escalation of force in Viet Nam."

Dirksen told a news conference that unless there is some "awful blunder" at Manila, he does not believe the President's visit to Asia will affect the Nov. 8 congressional election results.

"I think the people have made up their minds (about Viet Nam), their views have hardened and I don't believe any last-minute developments will change their minds," he said.

Invitations to the Manila meeting were extended by Philippine President Ferdinand E. Marcos to leaders of Australia, South Korea, Thailand, New Zealand, South Viet Nam and the United States. All accepted.

Republicans have been plugging the idea that an all-Asian conference might be able to take the initiative in seeking peace in Viet Nam. But Dirksen said the Manila meeting falls short by not including India, Pakistan and Japan among participants.

Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he hoped they will do something new, but indicated he doesn't think they will.

He said the session sounded like it would be "an expanded Honolulu meeting" where "our boys" would make up "a cozy group."

Prods Reds On Need of Space Pact LBJ Makes Plea For UN Efforts

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — President Johnson, declaring that "the security of all men may well be at stake," has made a personal plea to shake loose bogged-down United Nations' efforts toward a U.S.-Soviet agreement governing the use of outer space.

'Of Highest Interest'

A space treaty is "a matter of the highest common interest," the U.S. chief executive said while touring this spaceport with West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard Tuesday.

"I earnestly hope the Soviet Union — whose space achievements have been great — will feel as we do that the rapid evolution of space technology makes early conclusion of a treaty governing the use of space a most urgent matter," Johnson said.

Major areas of disagreement between the United States and the Soviet Union in the United Nations space treaty efforts include reporting outer-space activities, equal access to each other's equipment and installations on the moon, and military hardware in space.

The United States proposes compulsory reporting of outer-space activities, while the Soviet Union wants voluntary reporting.

Objects to Timing

Soviet officials have accepted in principle a U.S. proposal that nations grant each other equal access to space vehicles, equipment and installations on the moon and other celestial bodies at all times, but Russia wants to make the timing of such access subject to an agreement among the parties concerned.

Russia also objects to a clause in the U.S. draft treaty which says nations may use both military personnel and equipment in space, claiming the words "military equipment" is not well enough defined.

Jury Acquits Klansman in Liuzzo Death

Eight Negroes on Panel

A Circuit Court jury of eight Negroes and four white men took 85 minutes Tuesday night to reach its verdict of acquittal in the trial of Ku Klux Klansman Eugene Thomas for murder in the slaying of Viola Gregg Liuzzo, a white civil rights worker who died in a hail of gunfire from a passing auto on March 25, 1965, a few hours after the Selma-to-Montgomery march ended.

The verdict made Thomas the second member of the hooded order to win state court acquittal in the killing of Mrs. Liuzzo.

While the Detroit housewife was a participant in the march to dramatize Negro voting rights demands, no mention of her as a civil rights volunteer was made in direct testimony in the one-day trial. There was only one mention in the testimony of Thomas, a Bessemer steelworker, as a member of the Klan.

Flowers Disappointed

State Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers, who directed the prosecution for the state, expressed disappointment at the verdict. He called it a "complete breakdown of justice and law and order."

Thomas, who had listened attentively to the testimony which preceded the verdict, told newsmen he "got a fair trial."

The state closed its case without calling a paid witness for the FBI, Gary Thomas Rowe. He had testified in three previous trials that he was an eyewitness to the killing of Mrs. Liuzzo.

Rowe, a former Birmingham bartender who said he joined the Klan to get information for the FBI, testified he was in a car from which the fatal shot was fired, and that Thomas handed his gun to another Klansman, Collie LeRoy Wilkins, to do the shooting.

Wilkins' first trial in the century-old courthouse where

Yank Troops Begin Drive in Rice Bowl

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two U.S. Marine bombers missed their target and dropped 500-pound bombs by error Tuesday on a friendly village occupied by Vietnamese forces and their families.

Only Light Contact

The U.S. Command also disclosed that American troops have launched four new search-and-destroy operations and are operating in the Mekong Delta for the first time in the Viet Nam war. Until now the huge delta rice bowl — much of it now under deep flood waters — has been an area of operations solely for South Vietnamese troops.

Only light contact with the enemy was reported in the four new operations, which were launched earlier this month but were not announced until today.

In other war developments, a reconnaissance company of South Vietnamese troops uncovered a huge cache of Viet Cong ammunition and explosives 38 miles south of Saigon in the Mekong Delta.

U.S. authorities began an immediate investigation of the Marine bombing of the friendly village, and Marine helicopters flew the wounded to a government hospital.

Denies Vatican Mission Seeking To Promote Peace

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A special papal mission arrived in Saigon today but its leader denied reports from the Vatican that it was seeking to advance Pope Paul's search for peace in Viet Nam.

Archbishop Sergio Pignedoli, the apostolic delegate to Canada and head of the mission, expressed surprise at the large number of newsmen who met him at Saigon airport.

Vatican sources said Tuesday that the mission would gather information to help the Pope's peace campaign and try to ease the tension between the Buddhist majority and the Catholic minority in Viet Nam as well as study other problems of the church in Viet Nam.

Elect Woodstock Man County Planning Head

An active town planner since the 1940s, Benjamin L. Webster of Woodstock, has been unanimously elected chairman of the Ulster County Planning Board.

Election of Webster took place during the regular business meeting this week.

Dr. Soper Named to Head Superintendents Council

Former Kingston superintendent of schools Dr. Earl F. Soper, was elected president of the New York State Superintendents' Council at its final session the annual four-day conference at Grossinger's Hotel.

Dr. Soper is currently superintendent of schools for Long Beach, Nassau County, a post he assumed in 1963 after serving the local school system for eight years.

The former local educator, whose program for elimination of de facto segregation throughout the Long Beach City School District has been hailed by civil rights leaders and educators, will begin his duties as council president on Nov. 1. He succeeds Dr. Fred Painter of Brighton, who presided at this week's joint meeting of the Council with the State Association of School District Administrators.

Dr. Soper's recommendation for integrating Long Beach Schools through a building program providing common district-wide facilities from the fifth through 12th grades, received voter endorsement in July. A $6.9 million building program, calling for construction of a new high school and elementary school, was passed by a six-to-one margin in a district referendum.

During Dr. Soper's superintendency at Long Beach, its schools have pioneered special programs for gifted and talented students, and for the handicapped.

Includes Various Structures May Let October Pact for Gardens

Bids are to be opened Thursday at 2 p. m. in the Kingston Urban Renewal office, 436 Broadway (near City Hall) for the razing of some 300 structures in downtown's Broadway East urban renewal area.

Unlike the clearance earlier this year for new housing, razing this time will be in various sections of the project area and will be for general redevelopment. Structures to be removed will include homes, barns, sheds, mercantile and other type buildings.

Contract for First 74

A contract for razing of the first 74 structures was awarded to William Young & Co. Inc., of Newark, N. J. on a bid of $46,722.

Rondout Gardens, a 135-unit housing development is to be built on the first cleared site and it is expected that a contract for that project will be let next month.

It developed that bids for it were, on the low side, over $100,000 more than the $2,342,000 earmarked for it, but a recently announced the Department of Housing and Urban Development has authorized upwards of $200,000 more for the project.

The Rondout Gardens development will include a community center structure.

Low Bids Listed

Low bids received by the Kingston Housing Authority Aug. 16 were: Robie Construction Co., Elmford, Westchester County, general construction at $1,679,000; C. B. Strain Co., Poughkeepsie, plumbing, $388,000; Steinko Co., Englewood, N. J., heating, $258,751, and the ERA Electric Co., Kingston, electric at $159,054.

First procedure is in progress also toward rehabilitating buildings to provide 15 additional units of housing. The project could involve structures beyond downtown's urban renewal area.

It was also announced recently that first private loans and grants have been made for rehabilitation of existing homes and more are to follow.

Group Supports TB Hospital Beds For Welfare Use

The Comitia Minora of Ulster County Medical Society, after long discussion, has voted to recommend the closing of the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital and that its facilities be transferred to the county Welfare Department for use in the care of welfare patients.

A spokesman for the Comitia Minora, Cay Conway, said "The Comitia Minora wishes initially to commend the Ad Hoc Committee under the chairmanship of Dr. Frederick W. Holcomb Sr., for its careful exploration of the various possibilities for the disposition of this facility."

It was also recommended by the Comitia Minora that due consideration be given to the use of the TB Hospital for the type of patient that offers some opportunity for rehabilitation.

It was further recommended that the Out-Patient Tuberculosis Clinic be continued under the direction and supervision of the Ulster County Health Department and that the present administrative wing of the hospital continue to be used for the clinic.

Finally, it was recommended that in recognition of the most capable services and qualifications of Dr. John Plass, that he be retained as the director of the Out-Patient Clinic and the institution as a whole.

Former Resident Serving in Viet Given Bronze Star

Chief Warrant Officer 4 Melvin L. Lieve, automotive technician of the 574th Ordnance Company, was presented the Bronze Star Medal on Sept. 2, before a company formation of officers and enlisted men of his unit. Colonel Sellers B. Brown Jr., commanding officer of USA-TCA Special Troops, had the honor of pinning the medal on CWO Lieve.

CWO Lieve was cited for distinguishing himself by outstanding meritorious service in connection with ground operations against hostile forces in the Republic of Viet Nam during the period of June 1965 to June 1966. He served with Headquarters, 1st Logistical Command during his tour of duty in Viet Nam.

CWO Lieve's Army career extends from his service as an enlisted man in the 133rd A Battalion during World War II in Europe from 1942 to 1945 where he rose to the rank of Technical Sergeant. In 1948 he was appointed regular Army Warrant Officer.

The first eight months of his Army career were spent in the Medical Branch. He entered the Army in February 1941 at Fort Benning, Ga. The remainder of his career has been in automotive repair at organizations in field maintenance levels. In Viet Nam he served as staff officer in Logistics Command maintenance directorate.

In the past 25 years CWO Lieve has served three overseas tours of duty in Europe, one tour in Korea, and now his tour in Viet Nam. This is also his third time to be stationed here at Ft. Knox. From 1955-56 he served with the 83rd Ordnance and 11th Cavalry and in 1963 he returned here to serve with the 61st Ordnance Company.

The 57-year-old warrant officer is presently living in Valley Station, Ky., with his family. He is originally from Sundown. He is the son of Mrs. Carrie Lieve of Napanoch. His daughter, Mrs. William Winters, resides in Grahamsville. CWO Lieve lived in Ulster County until his Army enlistment.

Trial of Powell To Start Today

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., was to go on trial today in Manhattan Supreme Court on a charge of criminal contempt. He is accused of having violated legal orders to answer a defamation judgment he owes a Harlem widow.

An attorney for Odell Clark, chief investigator of Powell's House Education and Labor Committee, spent most of the day Tuesday in court trying to prevent newsmen from hearing testimony on Clark's financial dealings with Powell.

Was Subpoenaed

Clark had been subpoenaed by Raymond Rubin, the lawyer representing Mrs. Esther James, the widow to whom Powell now owes $162,000.

The congressman called Mrs. James a "bag woman," or collector of graft for policemen, on a television program six years ago. A jury subsequently found this to be defamatory.

Clark was summoned after he earlier had testified he shared an apartment in Harlem with Powell. Clark's lawyer, George D. Covington, opposed the presence of newsmen at the examination of his client.

Justice Abraham J. Gellinoff reserved decision on whether newsmen could be permitted into the hearing.

Wanted It Closed

Covington maintained the hearing essentially was a judicial proceeding and that in fairness to Clark it should be closed to news media. He said Clark was a "third party witness" to the defamation case and not directly involved.

Rubin contended the court should insure an open hearing of all its proceedings, as guaranteed by state and federal statutes. He said there were few exceptions to this.

Asian Summit Talks Provoke Several Political Questions

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — It was and is typically hazy, which is the way President Johnson likes it since he tries to keep secrets until he can reveal them as surprises.

The congressional elections are Nov. 8. But on Oct. 18 he is supposed to be in Manila for a seven-nation summit meeting with the heads of Pacific and Asian nations supporting the United States with troops in Viet Nam.

Monroe Gets Grant

WASHINGTON (AP) — Monroe County, N.Y., is the recipient of a $273,610 federal grant to help finance acquisition of 101 acres on the shore of Irondequoit Bay for recreational purposes.

The Housing and Urban Development Department awarded the funds Tuesday to the Lake Ontario county.

Hudson Man Killed

HUDSON, N.Y. (AP)—J. W. McKay, 74, of Hudson, was injured fatally Tuesday when struck by automobile as he walked along route 217 in near-by Mellenville.

A push for peace is a major purpose of the conference. After it Johnson may visit some of those other nations. So at this point some questions come up.

Does this trip have a domestic political angle? Will Johnson do any campaigning for his fellow-Democrats between now and the time he goes to Manila? Will he campaign when he returns, if there is time before election day?

And — is there something cooking, but not yet disclosed, about starting peace talks with the North Vietnamese Communists?

So far Johnson has done relatively little campaigning. Some weeks ago he made trips to New England and the Midwest. It was expected he would do far more before Election Day. Weeks passed and he didn't.

His press secretary, Bill D. Moyers, was asked about it Monday. He said Johnson has received bundles of invitations to make trips and speeches but so far hasn't decided on any of them.

Not So Strange

If this seemed strange, since all three previous presidents had campaigned for their party in off-year elections like this one, perhaps it was not so strange if meanwhile Johnson had this Manila trip in mind.

Perhaps he did, since he keeps quiet about so much. But the very way in which the news of the Manila trip came out was strange by itself.

Late Monday night, Washington time, Philippines President Ferdinand E. Marcos announced plans for the conference in a speech at Honolulu on his way home to Manila after a journey to Washington.

And here late Monday night leaks began that Johnson had decided to go and would announce it Tuesday morning. Meanwhile Monday night the White House was only saying that Johnson was interested in the idea of the meeting.

Then, sure enough, Tuesday morning the White House said Johnson would go but by that time it was hardly news since the word already was out that Johnson was going. And something else came from the White House:

Kept Secret

That Johnson and Marcos, when the Philippines' president was here Sept. 14-16, had discussed the conference but the project, until Monday night, was a well-kept secret.

It seems reasonable to believe, in view of the way all this happened and was handled, that Johnson may have decided to go quite a while before the leaks and the White House said so.

Yet, this doesn't explain why for most of this month Johnson did not campaign or why, since he doesn't have to be in Manila until Oct. 18, he hasn't decided to campaign between now and then. At least the White House said he hadn't decided.

His standing in the public opinion polls has been sinking. If he does little or no campaigning and the Democrats take a beating, his critics will have that much less excuse to tie the beating to him.

Would Not Impress

But suppose all the seven nations at Manila do agree on pious platitudes and fine but intangible intentions. That won't impress the thinking voters if Johnson returns and tries to call Manila a glowing success.

The best thing that could happen to the Democrats — or to Johnson — would be for him to return with news the ground had been laid for the start of peace talks with North Viet Nam.

But if that happens there will be a brand new question: When was that ground laid, during the Manila meeting or before Johnson left Washington at all?

Petition Rosendale Boys to Family Court

Five Town of Rosendale juveniles will be petitioned into Family Court in connection with vandalism at the Rosendale Cement Plant Sunday. Damage was estimated between $5,000 and $7,000.

State Police Sergeant Donald Paulsen of Kingston Sub-Station said the boys allegedly drove five or six trucks around the cement plant property smashing the vehicles into buildings and gasoline pumps and causing other damage.

The boys, whose ages range between 13 and 15 years, were picked up Tuesday in the course of an investigation conducted by Senior BCI Investigator Michael Lisman of the State Police, Chief Constable Harold Bowers and Sgt. John Kinstrey of the village police.

City Court Cases

Three drivers were fined in City Court today. Harry Waage, 63, of RD 2, Box 313, Kingston, charged with speeding as a second offender, was fined $50, plus $5 for lacking inspection. Michael Friar, 25, of 361 Albany Avenue, charged with speeding, paid $15, and Harold Diggs, 37, of 120 Esopus Avenue, Town of Ulster, charged with road restriction violation, was fined $5.

Pay Raises Won't Help

New York State Thruway Authority Chairman F. Burell Bixby has been told in no uncertain terms that rumored pay raises for rank and file Thruway employees will merely be the starting point of negotiations between the Thruway Authority and Teamsters Local Union No. 445. Local 445's Secretary-Treasurer Theodore G. Daley today released the text of a telegram he sent Bixby in which Daley said, "We are very much aware that your employees are grossly underpaid, overworked, and lacking in job, health, and family security." As a result, he indicated, any concessions granted now will become the starting point for negotiations by Teamsters Local Union No. 445. Daley, whose union has been campaigning to organize the Thruway's toll collectors and maintenance workers for the past half year, told Bixby, "We are prepared to meet with you, with the press in attendance, and document our right to majority representation of the Thruway's toll and maintenance personnel. It is our conviction," he said, "that until the Authority recognizes Teamsters Local Union No. 445 as the sole and exclusive bargaining agent for the Thruway toll collectors and maintenance workers, that your employees will be denied their fair share of the profits of your $80,000,000 a year transportation business."

TIME RIPE FOR PEACE

It is difficult to see how much further the United States can, or should, go in its efforts to end the war in Viet Nam.

In his major policy speech before the United Nations, ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg plainly spelled out this country's position on what have been called the three major obstacles to peace talks:

Bombing of the North: We will stop just as soon as we are assured, privately or otherwise, that North Viet Nam will take corresponding de-escalation steps.

U.S. troops: We stand ready to withdraw all our forces from South Viet Nam, under international supervision and according to an agreed-upon timetable, if Hanoi will do the same.

The Viet Cong: As far as we are concerned, participation of the Viet Cong in negotiations is not an "insurmountable problem."

Nor did Goldberg present these three points as exclusive and final preconditions. "There may be other proposals," he said. "We have not been and are not now inflexible in our position."

Our only inflexibility concerns the future of Viet Nam—our belief "that reunification of Viet Nam should be decided upon through a free choice by the peoples of both the North and South without outside interference, the results of which choice we are fully prepared to accept."

It should be clear to all that the next move is up to Hanoi. If Goldberg's speech is taken as a sign of faltering will by the United States, of an election year strategem by a nervous administration, then there is no chance for peace.

The North Vietnamese may well react this way. For one thing, they may consider the bombing raids more costly to this country than they are damaging to themselves. For another, it has been a doctrine with Ho Chi Minh and entourage that the American people lack the unity and resolve to see the struggle through to the finish.

Such a rejection of reason could not be more fateful. Since a unilateral withdrawal of U.S. troops is out of the question, except in the minds of a tiny minority of Americans, a prolongation of an inconclusive contest could well bring about public clamor for full-scale effort—clamor that the President might not be able to resist.

The time is ripe for peace in Viet Nam. The Communists cannot possibly drive out the Americans and take over South Viet Nam by force, even with Russian equipment. South Viet Nam has just taken a long stride toward setting up a democratic government. Red China is turning into a nuthouse and is in no position to launch a major war on behalf of North Viet Nam. Will Hanoi believe it? The real answer may lie in the reaction of the member nations of the United Nations.

If their response to Goldberg's speech is lukewarm, if they ignore this new opportunity to bring whatever pressure they can to bear on North Viet Nam, if they content themselves with sniping at U.S. policy a la Charles de Gaulle, then the war must inevitably continue in its bloody — and bloodier—course, to an ending no man can foresee.

Castro makes a five-hour speech admitting that Cuba has troubles. One trouble is Cubans have to spend so much time standing around listening to Castro.

Congress speeds up the timetable for a higher federal minimum wage—though not of course, to the point of keeping up with inflation.

BETTER MAIL HANDLING

Though postal authorities clearly deserve some of the heat they get for not providing topnotch mail service, they also deserve some sympathy. The fact is that, with use of the mails rising as swiftly as it is, the postal system has to run fast just to stay in the same place. To advance, it has to run faster.

The basic figures that give the dimensions of the problem are astonishing. During 1965 the Post Office handled some 72 billion pieces of mail. The amount of mail being handled is growing at the rate of five to six per cent annually. This year the total is expected to rise to about 75 billion pieces.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
RED CHINA'S DRIVE TO ISOLATIONISM

Taipei, Taiwan—The purge on the Chinese mainland is followed breathlessly here, for without accurate "China watching" there could be a premature and disastrous effort to intervene in the struggle to defeat the Communists in East Asia. Hence the intense speculation about the fate of the Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai when reports came that he had been stripped of his position as vice president of the Communist Party.

The question as of now, is what lay behind Chou En-lai's statement, on August 4, that the students of Tsing Hua University, that mistakes had been made by the Communist Central Committee and that something must be done to rectify the matter. If Chou, who has been called the "Mikoyan of Red China" because of his ability to breast the waters of ideological change, made the statement on his own, it would not be worth much comment. But if he was pressured into doing it by Lin Piao, who is Mao Tse-tung's chosen "crown prince," then an entirely different construction should be put on it. In this case it would be equivalent to an apology and an abasement, and it would signify that Chou is in a position similar to Sukarno's in Indonesia, holding on to some vestiges of influence because of his roots in the country.

The case of Chou is important because he has long been the window of the Red Chinese for the outside world. A cosmopolitan, he was educated in France. He has always stood apart from the factions, belonging neither to the Yanan group which was seasoned by life in the caves of China's Northwest after the long march from the South-east, nor to the Moscow-trained group which took the original lead in forming the Chinese Communist Party. Chou rose to his position of Premier, and to his seat in the standing committee of the Politburo, both of which he still holds as of this moment of writing, by his own intrigue and his abilities as diplomatic maneuvering vis-a-vis the West, which at times have made him indispensable to the Red regime. But, just as the "fixer" Mikoyan in the Soviet Union had to ingratiate himself with whatever faction happened to be in control, Chou had to go along with the Liu Shao-chi group when Liu was Mao Tse-tung's favorite for the succession. Now that the star of Lin Piao has risen, Chou has been faced with the necessity for a "disengagement."

The question is whether he must suffer for the role he played in the days when America sent General George Marshall to China to try to bring about a coalition between the Chiang Kai-shek government and Mao Tse-tung's Yanan-based Communists. Chou was the intermediary then. Marshall took quite a fancy to him. Always then, Marshall let the American feel that the regard was reciprocal. It was, of course, an act, for the "talk, talk" phase when the Chinese Communists were pretending to be Jeffersonian agrarian reformers, it suited Mao Tse-tung to pretend that his party was no real enemy of the West.

Chou's position is menaced by his old record to the extent that Mao Tse-tung and Lin Piao may wish to erase the memory of the day when dealings with the West were an accepted Red tactic. The China of the Red Guard period may distrust a man who was on amiable terms with George Marshall. He may be suspected of "revisionist" leanings even if he does not have them.

Professor Wu Chen-tsai, the director of the local Institute of International Relations, a non-governmental organization which makes an intensive daily study of information coming into Taiwan from Hong Kong and the mainland, is not convinced that his influence in Red China is ended. Mao Tse-tung and Lin Piao might wish to go in for complete destruction of everyone who does not agree with them, but the reaction against the Red Guard in the south of China could stay their hands a bit. Red China's drive to a complete isolationism will not be wholly complete or successful as long as some possible fault lines in the Peking monolith remain. Promising Treatments
Relieve Kidney Problems
By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Since the last time I discussed kidney stones in this column, some promising new treatments have been reported. Two German doctors have found that by inserting a specially designed catheter into the kidney they can irrigate the kidney pelvis continuously for 15 to 20 hours daily. Three solutions are used one at a time and the patient is taught how and when to stop one solution and start another.

These solutions are introduced at body temperature. The first combines a nonirritating detergent and sodium polyphosphate. It dissolves the outer layer of the stones and washes out any inflammatory products that may be in the kidney pelvis. The second solution is a combination of EDTA and an antibiotic. This dissolves the mineral inner core of the stones. The exact composition of this solution is varied according to the type of stones to be dissolved.

The third solution is a salt solution. Most recently formed stones are dissolved in about 20 hours but the irrigation is continued for several more hours to be on the safe side.

The disadvantages of this treatment are the length of time required, especially when the stones are old and hard. Some of these take 800 hours to dissolve. Persons whose stones have been removed in this way are advised to have a kidney X-ray 6 months later to see whether there has been any further stone formation. If new stones are diagnosed, prompt treatment insures that they can be dissolved quickly.

For persons with cystine stones in the kidney (only a small per cent of all those who have stones) another treatment is available. Penicillamine, a derivative of penicillin taken by mouth will do the trick in 6 to 12 months. Once this treatment is started, however, it must be continued indefinitely to prevent a recurrence. For this reason it is recommended only for those whose stone formation cannot be controlled by other means. In another column I will discuss the prevention of kidney stones.

Q—What causes pus in the urine? What is the best treatment?

A—Any infection in the kidneys or bladder will cause pus in the urine. Urinary antiseptics and antibiotics offer the best chance for cure but the treatment must often be prolonged and recurrences are common.

There are some signs of advance—of improvement in mail handling. Various automated methods are being used. One instance of this is the current installation of giant, high-speed letter sorters in a number of large city post offices. Such machines offer hope for staying abreast of the rising mail current. In many respects our mail system is essentially the same as it was long ago. It is becoming clear that this is no longer good enough, and that if service is not to deteriorate even more the fullest use must be made of modern techniques.

The young man was sincere and patriotic, but he was nervous. His hands twisted as he talked. He was intent on making me understand what was troubling him. He loves his country. He despises communism. He is more conservative than liberal.

"But right now," he said, "I have a great deal of sympathy for the young people who oppose the war in Viet Nam."

"(President) Johnson seems to be running it to serve his political purposes and that is no good reason to be in a war—and to die."

I don't know what to believe. I don't feel we're getting the truth. I've taken to reading pirated papers.

"I'm not going out and demonstrate. I don't believe that's the way to go at things. But I'm deeply, personally concerned."

In traveling along the East coast and to the West for a stint in Viet Nam and talking to people along the way, it became clear that this young man's attitude is not untypical among numbers of young people.

These are not the bearded, draft-card burners or way-out leftists. They're young men willing to serve their country in war. They believe in democracy. They're just not certain the Viet Nam war — the way it's run — is promoting democracy. They're confused and worried.

It was shocking on this trip to learn the depth of feeling and suspicion on the Viet Nam war among some educated non-radical young men and women.

They are suspicious of the war, as was this young man.

Finds No One Is Providing Answers to Inflation Trend

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Is inflation out of control, and will the present trend continue as the efforts to apply "restraints" turn out to be more theoretical than real?

Neither Congress nor the administration seems to be providing the answer. About all that can be perceived here is a disorder in which the leadership of the President is not being asserted and the Democratic party, which is two-thirds majority in both the Senate and the House, appears to have lost control of itself. Almost everything that is controversial has had to get Republican support to secure passage.

The gravity of the situation is perhaps not as apparent to the country at large, though the statements of administration spokesmen have portrayed the economy as in a dangerous condition.

Within the last 15 days, some significant declarations have been made to congressional committees in testimony by secretary of Commerce Connor, secretary of the treasury Fowler, and the director of the budget, Charles Schultz. Secretary Connor said, for instance, to the house ways and means committee:

Still Showing Strain
"The economy is still showing signs of imbalance and strain, and these could intensify if new fiscal measures are not taken. The purchasing power of the consumer's dollar has been declining at an annual rate of 3.5 per cent since the beginning of the year. At the same time, wholesale prices rose at an annual rate of 3.8 per cent."

"Inflation on this scale undermines the stability of unit labor costs and, if permitted to continue, would create a vicious wage-price spiral. It imposes severe hardships on the many people who live on fixed incomes, particularly those older people who live on pensions. It jeopardizes our international competitive position and intensifies the difficulty of bringing an end to our balance of payments deficit."

Secretary Fowler, in testifying before the same committee, stated that pressures are "clearly observable in the money markets and capital goods sector, which are producing unusual strains, the highest interest rates in forty years and a perceptible trend toward a general condition of economic instability."

The director of the budget joined Secretary Fowler in avoiding any direct recommendations for cutting government expenditures, and both said, in effect, that President Johnson cannot do much about making a final budget until he knows what appropriations bills Congress will enact.

This attempt to pass the buck to Congress is somewhat surprising. It has been assumed heretofore that the President, as the leader of the majority party, would lay out a program of spending and insist that his party adhere to it. No such pressure, however, is being applied by the executive.

There are certain extenuating circumstances, of course, which affect the current maladjustment — such as the financial demands of the Viet Nam war. Even when the costs, however, are subtracted from the budget, the non-military expenditures are higher than they ever have been in total amount. Many are for worthy purposes, but the administration and Congress have not held back the spending spree for the "Great Society" and for the "Pork Barrel" measures that individual members of Congress support in order to win votes back home. Yet if the purchasing power of the dollar shrinks further, the advantage of the new outlays by the government will be reduced and the financial crisis may get worse.

Related to Flow

At present, the economic situation is related directly to the enormous flow of money provided by the government. Talk of increasing income taxes and cutting down spending is being heard as efforts are made to give the impression that these remedial measures will be decisive. But skepticism is growing and the administration is wobbling of a fear that a painful deflation may be precipitated.

This dilemma has confronted the country before. Unfortunately, in the early 1930's everything the incumbent administration tried to do to stop the deterioration of the economic situation, though constructive, came too late to avert a serious loss of public confidence. It is to avoid a repetition of this error that executive agencies as well as members of Congress are being exhorted by some businessmen to do less shifting about and adopt at the current session a firm program of restraint even if it involves wage-and-price control and higher income-tax rates.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

WASHINGTON, D. C. — They still talk of Laffey and Becton as though, by repeating the story, the old sundowners will come to believe it. Now and then, the marriage of a ship and a man makes them both bigger than they are. It was like that with Fred Becton, Commander, USN, and Laffey, DD-742. Both are alive although neither can think of an excuse.

Laffey was a smart destroyer of 2,200 tons. She could rack up 35 knots; 37 if the engineers tied the safety valves down. Off the coast of Normandy in June, 1944, she screened old battle-ships, ran smoke, fired on shore batteries, and took a 9½ shell aft. It was a dud and the crew tossed it overboard.

She screened at Cherbourg too, and they sent her to the Pacific in time for the Leyte landings and the Battle of Surigao Straits. Laffey was just one more DD in all the actions, running the flanks of the big carriers and cruisers like a small terrier.

Then they sent her to Okinawa as a picket. General Simon Bolivar Buckner was landing his Tenth U. S. Army between Yontan and Kadena Airfields and he wanted naval watchdogs north, east, south and west.

Becton drew position number one, the worst of sixteen. It was about ten miles northwest of Izena-Shima on a direct line from the Japanese mainland to Buckner's army. The Japanese suicide planes — kamikazes — would have to pass Laffey to get to their prey. Under attack, a good destroyer had a life of 180 seconds.

A beardless kid named Calvin Cloer—if I recall it correctly—was afraid that he had no guts. He had asked a chaplain to pray for him, not to have his life spared, but to give him courage. "Most of all," he had said, "a fellow needs spine." Calvin's job was to sit in an iron chair behind 20-mm. guns and fire at incoming suicide planes.

Nobody knew, in April, 1945, that the Japanese tactical plan was not aimed at the U. S. Army ashore, but at the U. S. Navy afloat. The Imperial High Command reasoned that, if they could sink the Navy picket boats, Buckner and his Tenth Army would get no supplies, and thus die on the vine.

From April 6, 1945 until June 22, the Japanese Army and Navy scaled 1,465 planes at the little Navy pickets. The job of the destroyers, spread around Okinawa like a 16-point star, was to detect enemy aircraft on radar, give numbers, positions, courses and speed, and call for help. The cry for aid helped identify the name of the picket about to die.

So many ships were sunk and damaged that the pickets were reduced to five. On April 16, Laffey was looting at 15 knots on an oily groundswell when the radar man announced, at 8:25 a. m., that he had 50 "bogies" on his screen. Becton sent the word out to the fleet and rang for flank speed.

Admiral Samuel Morison says: "Probably no ship ever survived an attack of the intensity that she experienced." The kamikazes, the Vals and Judys and Oscars came in from all corners of the compass at the same time. Laffey ran crazy, like a pencil trying to write its name in the sea.

At 8:27, eighteen of them were on final, heading straight for Laffey low and hard. In a moment, two bombs exploded about the forward turrets, and Laffey cried in pain and flame. Another landed on the fantail, among the depth charges, and blew the rudder into a locked position. Laffey stood in the morning sun like a whirling Roman candle.

Enlisted men and officers were broiled black. Becton begged for speed, but Laffey was dying with fires everywhere. A kamikaze with a bomb diving into the after deckhouse. Another crashed behind the torpedo tubes. The ship's guts were exploding up through the hatches. U. S. Corsairs pursued Oscars right into the ship's a. a. fire and an Oscar hit Laffey's forward mast and blew all over the bridge.

Sometimes the tormentors went away. Then they came back and made their runs in concert. At 8:47, a kamikaze got through and crashed into the aft 5-inch turret. In all, Laffey took six kamikazes and four direct hits by bombs. At 9:47, the Japanese left for home. Becton, his face black with soot, ordered the damage control parties out. He had four small guns firing. Laffey was dead in the water, down by the stern, and young boys jammed the sick bay screaming with fire and pain.

Calvin Cloer was found dead at his post. He had spine. The medics peeled him from the iron seat and his vertebrae was still fused to the metal. That afternoon, the fleet tug Pakana took Laffey in tow. There 31 dead and 72 wounded when she limped into Hagushi anchorage.

Five days later, Becton pointed Laffey to Guam, listing and limping. In a day and at a time when heroism was as common as salt water, Admiral C. T. Joy said that Laffey's performance "stands out above the outstanding." It was a good marriage between the right man and the right ship.

DOING GOOD TURN—About 150 Boy Scouts are doing good turns on behalf of Ulster County Community Chest drives in Kingston, Saugerties, New Paltz, Rosendale, Port Ewen and Marletown by cleaning car windshields. The scouts leave a note explaining that the jobs was done to promote driving safety and urge return of the favor by supporting the Boy Scouts and 12 other agencies in the Community Chest Drive. Alex Macdonald, scout executive of Rip Van Winkle Council said the scouts expect to clean about 2,000 car windshields. Douglas Ellsworth of Employer Post 12 shows how it's done. HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When making hamburger patties to freeze, I make a little hole in the center of each one. I can cook them without thawing, and the inside will be done by the time the outside is—and I don't have to worry about uncooked centers.

I also do our unfrozen hamburgers that way, for the little hole will let steam through and we can have well-done hamburgers but not hard and dry on the outside.

I put an olive, pickle or cheese in the hole when ready to serve the patty.

Mrs. N.

Dear Heloise:

I have cafe curtains in my kitchen. The rings are sewn on with thread, but after several washings, the thread rots.

I have sewn them back on with nylon thread and behold, no more loose rings!

Mrs. G. Hull

Dear Heloise:

After opening and unfolding hundreds of letters during Federal Income time, I started refolding everything—business letters, charge slips from the stores, etc.—with the typing or writing on the outside, and with the letterhead of salutation showing.

Now I can go through my files and find the letter I want like a breeze.

Breezy Sal

Dear Heloise:

I have three sons and some of their toys have a zillion pieces and parts!

I've boxed, labeled and elastic banded these toys separately. They are stored out of my kids' reach and have to be asked for.

The children are each allowed any one box, but after playing is finished, they must put all the pieces back, then the toys go on the shelf for another time.

Makes these toys special to them, saves loss, and mother's energy.

T. A.

Dear Heloise:

Next time you roast marshmallows, first grease the prongs of that long fork.

Then it's not so hard to clean.

Mrs. Fisher

Also, the cooked marshmallows will slide off the prongs without tearing apart, and thus are less messy to eat.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When you go to the supermarket or a department store, do you take along their advertisements? Or the flyers mailed to you?

Try marking the items of interest with a red pencil. Then, at a glance, you can spot the things you want to buy or check on.

Dot

Dear Heloise:

I recently started typing over my old recipes onto 3 in. x 5 in. cards.

Some of the magazine recipes had small color illustrations of the food described, so I started pasting them next to, or below, the recipe.

I now have a neat, attractive display of the finished product when I plan my menu.

Caryl Emanuel

Dear Heloise:

When the elbows on my husband's shirts wear out, I cut off the lower half of the sleeves and make short-sleeved shirts.

I use the cut-off parts of the sleeves to make doll clothing for our little girl.

Dotty

Dear Heloise:

When someone in the house is sick (especially with a cold) it is handy to keep a vacuum bottle of hot tea (or other liquid) by his bed.

When he wants something to drink, it is right there. He doesn't have to wait or bother others to fix it.

Man Found Guilty Of Draft Violations

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Richard R. Cool of Liverpool has been found guilty in U.S. District Court here of two violations of the Universal Military Training Act.

Judge Edmund Port, who tried and convicted Cool Tuesday without a jury, ordered a pre-sentence investigation. Cool remained free in bail.

The youth was convicted of failure to report for a Selective and of failure to report for induction.

Court records showed that Cool was ordered to take the physical examination on Nov. 20, 1964, and ordered to report for induction on Jan. 29, 1965.

Joseph Hooker, Union general in the Civil War, was nicknamed "Fighting Joe."

Think N. H. Will Continue Sweeps, To Vote Nov. 8

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — New Hampshire's sweepstakes, not quite the winner some had hoped, faces a second hurdle.

While other states are considering legalizing a sweeps, New Hampshire voters decide Nov. 8 if tickets may continue to be sold in their communities.

Even its most vocal opponents believe the sweeps will win.

Foes Not Organized

"I'd be amazed if it didn't," said Richard Plumer, editor of the University of New Hampshire alumni magazine and a key member of the "Committee of 100" which campaigned against the lottery before the original referendum in 1964. It passed then by a 3 to 1 margin.

The opposition is not organized to any degree that I know of," added Plumer, "and there's no plan to gain a repeal — that's not realistic at this point. I still don't feel the sweepstakes is doing the job."

"It's bringing in a few million dollars that we wouldn't have otherwise — but, because of it, perhaps genuine tax reform is being put off."

Edward J. Powers, former FBI agent who is executive director of the sweepstakes, said he would ask the 1967 Legislature to authorize additional sales outlets in the state and provide more money for advertising and promotion.

The sweeps will come closer to reaching its financial potential, he said, "if we can merchandise our product and make it available on a national market."

Off to Poor Start

The 1967 sweepstakes is off to a poor start. Sales during the first few weeks are more than $12,000 behind the 1966 lottery.

At $3 apiece, tickets worth $3.86 million were sold on the 1966 sweepstakes, a drop from the $3.9 million sold on the 1965 lottery. The first year's lottery, in 1964, had sales of $5.73 million.

The profits from the sweepstakes are sent to local school districts. The goal is to help relieve property taxes.

The state has no broad-based income or sales tax — the only one in the union which has not at least initiated legal action toward such a tax.

A source close to the state Tax Commission admitted that the sweepstakes "hasn't done a great deal, but any source of revenue is a help."

"The sweeps isn't too reliable as a source of income. If times are good, people will take a chance and buy a ticket. But it isn't anything like a tax which people must pay," the source said.

"The government must have a base from which it can estimate what it is going to get in revenue. This is very definitely lacking in the sweepstakes."

Savings & Loan Of Kingston New Rate Increase

Alfred D. Ronder, president of the Savings & Loan Association of Kingston, has announced that effective Oct. 1, the association plans to pay an anticipated total dividend rate on one-year income deposits amounting to 5 1/2 per cent per annum.

Ronder stated that the Board of Directors in taking this action wish to assure its depositors the opportunity to earn the highest rate of dividends obtainable in Ulster County. Deposits made by the 10th of Oct. will earn dividends from Oct. 1.

The association maintains its principal office at 267 Wall Street in Kingston, with branch offices in the Ulster Shopping Plaza on Albany Avenue Extension and at 70 Vineyard Avenue in Highland.

Mark 70th Anniversary

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — On Sept. 27, 1896, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Schild stood before the altar and said their wedding vows in Winchester, Tenn.

If that doesn't hit you right off, let it be noted that the couple have been married 70 years.

Schild, 93, is a retired blacksmith. His wife is 90. They live with a daughter, Mrs. W.T. Jenkins. The couple has 6 children, 10 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

Today's Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — A study about to be distributed shows more than 28 million American workers are covered by pension funds. But that very security for the 28 million brings a nightmare to others.

Many companies today make their hiring decision on whether a worker fits into the pension plan, or sometimes the insurance plan. If he is over 45, even younger, he generally does not fit.

Caught in Situation

One semiprofessional man caught in the situation said: "What I can do for them is unimportant. What they're concerned about is this: Do I fit into their plan?"

In order to accommodate a worker aged 45, a company has to make a big investment in him. If a worker joins a pension plan as a young man he underwrites his own retirement. Sometimes it is as simple as that.

The alternative for the individual on the outside looking for a job is to leave his craft, lower his standards of living and work, and perhaps move to another city in search of a job.

Unemployment compensation is not a consideration for such people, who sometimes are putting children through college or paying on a home mortgage. Most still wish to look forward. At age 45 a worker now has a life expectancy of 27 more years.

$180 Billion by 1971

The study of pension funds, by the National Bureau of Economic Research, a private organization of corporations and governments will rise from $8 billion in 1945 to $180 billion in 1971.

By 1981, the study indicates, about 56 million workers will be protected. At that time about 10 million retired workers will be collecting benefits.

finds himself at age 45 not a member of a pension plan may be in trouble. Almost every type of worker belongs to groups that protect him — associations, unions, societies. This type often belongs to no group.

Frequently he is alone. He is not organized. He cannot gather enough of his kind to march or picket or cast a bloc vote. He is a particular case, an individual rather than a mass. In a nation supposedly made up of individuals he often finds society too rigid to make an exception for him.

Terms Leary Theory On LSD, Pure Nonsense

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—The federal food and drug administration describes claims that the drug LSD is a mind-expanding compound as "pure nonsense."

In fact, James L. Goddard says, LSD is "an erratic, unpredictable, highly potent drug" and its uncontrolled use is "chemical Russian roulette."

Goddard told an audience of 2,000 at a Drugs and the College Campus Symposium at Cornell University Tuesday that, despite 20 years of experiments, LSD "remains a mystery, and there is no significant biological or clinical data to justify calling it a mind-expanding drug."

He termed psychologist Timothy Leary, a former Harvard University professor and other advocates of the drug, "apostles of drug abuse."

Earlier Tuesday, the president of the State Council on Drug Addiction said narcotics and the methods of their control could be the "focus of the current political campaign."

Dr. Donald Louria, also an associate professor of medicine at Cornell University, predicted that narcotics and methods of controlling drugs could be the "focus of the current political campaign."

Louria referred to criticism by Democratic gubernatorial candidate Frank D. O'Connor of a drug-addiction law proposed by Rockefeller.

Under the law, addicts could be committed involuntarily for treatment—a device criticized by O'Connor as a violation of civil liberties.

Dear Abby . . .'Sonny' Can't Face Married Life*Abigail Van Buren

Everyone tells me how lucky I am to have this jewel.

Now, here's the rub: Bruce (I'll call him) was a bachelor, living with his mother when I married him. I agreed to keep my job until we could afford a nice home. Now, a year later, I have bought all the groceries and paid the rent. Bruce doesn't have one suit of clothes at our apartment. He shaves and showers at his mother's, keeps everything there except his socks and underwear. He even gets his mail there.

I have never seen a bank statement, a pay-check, or a canceled check. All his personal papers and records are locked up in a strong box at his mother's. When I mention these things to him he just smiles. If I pursue it further he walks away and ignores me. The newspaper is the one thing he buys, and he reads your column, so please print this, and tell me what to do.

BEWILDERED
DEAR BEWILDERED: Did you MARRY this little boy, or adopt him? Tell your good-natured "jewel" that he is about to be polished off unless he faces the responsibilities of marriage like a man. And if he doesn't, send his socks and underwear over to his mother's, and add his walking papers to the rest of his "records."

DEAR ABBY: I know a girl who is very nice, but she sure could use some tips concerning the betterment of her looks. She wears no make-up of any kind and she doesn't do a thing with her hair. It is an absolute mess. She probably wonders why she doesn't appeal to any of the guys.

My problem is how to become friendlier with her so I can help her improve her looks without thinking I want to get closer to her because of her money and new car. I just can't sit by and watch her miss out on all the fun.

WANTS TO HELP

DEAR WANTS: Tell her, in a nice way. If she resents it, your friendship is over. If not, you're in business.

DEAR ABBY: I admire parents who take an interest in their children's school work, but we have a situation in our school which I think needs looking into. There is a family of children whose parents are well-educated and very smart, so if one of their children was to write a theme or give a speech he was told to write himself, his parents help him with it to the extent of doing the whole thing.

Now I happen to know this is so because my son pals with their son, who won a speech contest by giving an "original" speech which his father wrote for him. I think this is unfair to the other children who go by the rules. I wish you would mention this in your column. Maybe the guilty parents will see it and take the hint.

BURNED UP
DEAR BURNED UP: Not only is it unfair to the other children, it is unfair to their own child. The real "prize" is in learning—not in winning.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "NO NAMES, PLEASE" IN PASSAIC: A blood test will tell you who the baby's father ISN'T—not necessarily who the baby's father IS.

City Dems Shift Dinner to Capri, Blame GOP Sign

The annual dinner-dance sponsored jointly by the Kingston City Democratic Club and the Kingston City Democratic Men's Club has been shifted from the Governor Clinton Hotel because of the large Republican campaign headquarters sign on the front of the building.

Dr. Gerald P. Gorman, chairman of the Democratic City Committee, said the dinner had been planned for Saturday, Oct. 29 at the hotel and tickets had been printed. However, the placing of the sign offended Democratic party members and suggestions that the sign be removed, at least for the day of the dinner, were not favored by the management of the hotel.

"The executive group of the Democratic City Committee," Dr. Gorman said, "felt that the political sign on a community center largely used by Democrats was improper and they unanimously voted to cancel their original plans. On Monday night arrangements were made to hold the dinner Saturday, Oct. 28, at the Capri 400 resort restaurant on Route 9W at Port Ewen, south of Kingston, with an expected attendance of 350."

It is unfortunate, Dr. Gorman added, that the dinner which each year has been held in Kingston is being moved out of the city, but the Democrats concluded that was preferable to holding the event "in Republican headquarters." He noted that with the exception of the hotel there was no other place in the city with facilities for 350 diners.

Chairman of the general committee for arrangements of the dinner is John P. Heitzman. Other committee chairmen are Lawrence E. Woerner, journal; William T. Mahoney, tickets; Mrs. Florence Crosby, reservations; Agnes Loughran, hostesses; Orrie R. Riehl, patrons; J. Austin MacDonald, boosters and Joseph Policano, publicity.

Hint of Domingo Coup Seen Creating Distrust

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Reports here and abroad of an imminent coup looked like a part of an opposition plan to create an air of mutual distrust between President Joaquin Balaguer's government and military leaders.

By disrupting relations between the Dominican government and armed forces, the opposition hopes to promote a climate of political unrest such as led to the overthrow of ex-President Juan Bosch three years ago. Another objective is to frighten away foreign and local investment.

Responsible national figures and U.S. and other foreign diplomats give the scheme little chance of success, primarily because of the armed forces support of the government.

The more radical wing of Bosch's Dominican Revolutionary party and extreme leftists are apparently, behind the coup propaganda. The central theme is that right-wing extremists, some in the army, are plotting to overthrow Balaguer. Havana radio recently broadcast these reports.

The campaign was believed originally aimed at forcing the Balaguer government to request the inter-American peace force to remain in this country. This would have discredited Balaguer in some quarters and fueled anti-U.S. propaganda.

While discounting the possibility of an imminent coup, observers here see some justification in fears of right-wing terrorism. But they point out that most of the terrorism and violence in Santo Domingo so far has occurred in that central part of the city once controlled by rebel and leftist forces. And most if not all of the clandestine weapons so far recovered by national police have been in homes of former rebels or leftists.

Majestic Seeking Assembly Office On Farmer Ticket

To bring to the attention of the Democratic and Republican Parties in the state "that something has to be done for farmers," a candidate for Assembly from the 99th Assembly District (Ulster County) George Majestic, (who is also the Democratic candidate for Assembly from this district), has been entered on the ballot for the November elections, as the Farmer's Party candidate.

The Farmer's Party has registered with the Board of Elections and named its candidate for Assembly—George Majestic—who is supervisor from the Town of Gardiner. Majestic was re-elected supervisor from Gardiner for the fifth consecutive term in 1965.

The Farmer's Party was organized for the dual purposes of protecting the New York State dairymen against laws of the state's fluid milk market, and also to assure a fair price for farm produce without raising the price to the consumer, according to Supervisor Majestic.

Majestic claims that there is too much manipulation in the state and federal milk market. He advocates adoption of laws similar to those in Connecticut to protect New York State dairy farmers. In 1962 Majestic asked for an investigation. At that time he stated that milk was being marketed in New York City from as far west as West Virginia—who knows how much farther the market comes from at the present time?

Majestic went on to say that the party is aiming to get the New York State dairyman a better price for his milk. He offers a comparison of prices as follows: In 1948 the dairyman in the state received $6 per hundred weight for milk, today he is receiving around $5.50 per hundred weight, whereas in 1948 the consumer was paying between 19c to 23c per quart; today the consumer is paying between 25c to 32c per quart.

The dairy farmer is not the only one who is being short-changed. The agricultural and livestock exhibits, the displays of grain, fruit, vegetables and flowers under the Big Top, the daily mid-way street parade, the auto thrill show and outstanding animal grandstand attractions, the oxen drawing contests, home arts demonstrations and competition in sewing, baking, cooking, a tour through New England Village, New Amsterdam, the authentic Dutch Village, Gold Town and literally hundreds of other attractions all will be ready in place by Saturday morning.

Free parking on many acres of fair property make it a convenient trip and for the first time the Danbury Airport the FAA has scheduled a portable control tower to handle air traffic.

Joie Chitwood and his famous auto daredevils will be featured in the grandstand area on the opening Saturday and Sunday. Gene Holter's trained animal show and two of the famed Imperial Lipizzan horses from Austria, a new attraction, will perform during the weekday free grandstand program.

On the final two afternoons in the grandstand program a feature will be King Kovaz and his international auto thrill drivers. Governor John Dempsey will make his annual visit to the fair on Governor's Day, Wednesday, Oct. 5.

State police auxiliaries and the Danbury Police Department have arranged a schedule of extra patrols to guide the expected heavy traffic, especially on the two weekends of the fair.

For instance, in 1948 the chicken farmer received 74c per dozen wholesale for his eggs. In 1966 he receives 52c per dozen wholesale. On this same farm real estate taxes in 1948 were $90; today, 1966, he is paying $350 in taxes. There are many more reasons why investigation of high prices to the consumer and low prices to the farmer producing foodstuffs, should receive extensive investigation, Majestic states.

Majestic owns and operates a hardware store in the Town of Gardiner and he says he has worked closely with area farmers for many years.

Protests Mark Return to U.N. Of Indonesia

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Amid shouted protests from demonstrators in the public galleries of the General Assembly, Indonesia returned today to the United Nations.

The demonstrations broke out as Abdul Rahman Paziwak of Afghanistan, the assembly president, invited an Indonesian delegation headed by Foreign Minister Adam Malik to take seats reserved for it in the third row of the big blue and gold assembly hall.

With Indonesia's return, the U.N. membership was boosted to 119.

U.N. guards quickly hustled a handful of demonstrators out of the hall.

One young man unfurled a denunciatory banner before he was removed.

"Indonesians are bloody puppets and murderers," a demonstrator yelled. Among them was a young woman in Indonesian garb.

After the demonstration Malik took the rostrum and pledged his country's full cooperation with the work of the United Nations. He expressed thanks to all those who helped make his country's return "a smooth and happy one."

When he concluded, the assembly proceeded with its general policy debate.

Indonesia became the first nation to quit the world organization on March 1, 1965, on orders from President Sukarno, then the unquestioned ruler of the country.

Malik came here from Washington, where he conferred Tuesday with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and President Johnson. The United States announced it is providing emergency aid to Indonesia in the form of additional rice, cotton and spare parts estimated unofficially to cost about $80 million.

At a news conference Malik said Indonesia supports any

Poll Avers Backlash Could Hurt Democrats

NEW YORK (AP) — Louis Harris, who heads a national public opinion polling organization, says a white backlash of resentment against the civil rights movement could "tear the Democratic party apart" in the North in the November elections.

He said it could "cost the Democrats and cost them heavily. In fact, it could have an effect on 20 out of the 45 freshmen Congress seats—the white backlash issue could be the decisive issue Nov. 8."

Harris made the statements in an interview Tuesday night on the CBS reports television program "Black Power - White Backlash."

Given Promotion By Ulster Savings

The promotion of Charles G. Rider to the position of mortgage administrator of the Ulster County Savings Bank, 280 Wall Street, was announced today by bank president Howard C. St. John.

St. John said Rider's promotion to this office is but another step in the bank's continuing effort to improve its service to customers. He explained that the bank, in its efforts to put emphasis on specialization, was proceeding with its departmentalization plan to give individual specialized service to bank customers as needed. According to St. John, the plan currently underway at the bank would give fast service and centralized knowledge on mortgage procedure to customers utilizing this branch of banking.

Rider, a graduate of Emma Wygant School and Kingston High School locally, continued his studies at Xavier University. He has attended several technical schools and completed several A.B. Courses.

His military time during world War 2 was spent as a sergeant with the 75th Infantry Division.

As a member of the East Kingston Methodist Church, Rider serves as treasurer and was lay leader and delegate to their annual conference.

Fraternally he is a member of Kingston Lodge 10 F&AM and Lodge 10 F&AM Craftsmen, The American Legion and has held several offices in the P.T.A.

Rider and his wife, Madeline, reside on the Flatbush Road with their children, Stephen 17, David 15 and Nancy 11.

Probe Spa Fire

(AP) — Fire officials seek the cause of a fire that damaged a three-story apartment building, leaving 40 residents homeless today.

No one was injured seriously in the fire Tuesday. There was no damage estimate.

Firemen said they believed the fire began in a pile of mattresses stored in the basement of the brick building.

Scuba Diving Course

The YMCA, in conjunction with the Ulster County Scuba Diving Association, is offering to all "Y" members a course in scuba diving. The class will be taught by Mike Schovel, member of both the "Y" and the Scuba Diving Association.

Classes will begin Wednesday, Oct. 5, at the "Y" and will continue for 10 weeks. Class time will run from 7:30 to 8 p. m. with pool time beginning at 8 and lasting an hour.

Any YMCA member interested in taking the course is asked to be at the "Y" Wednesday, Oct. 5 for tryouts. Scuba diving is one of the many swimming classes now in progress at the Kingston YMCA, an agency of the Ulster County Community Chest.

Lillian Smith

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Lillian Smith, novelist, essayist and an early spokesman for civil rights in the South, died today at an Atlanta hospital after a lingering illness. She was 68.

Her controversial first book, "Strange Fruit," about a tragic love affair between a white boy and a Negro girl, was a best seller and won her international recognition. It sold more than three million copies.

Miss Smith was born in Jasper, Fla., but had lived in Clayton, in the north Georgia mountains much of her life. She had been ill with cancer for many years.

Georgia Voters Decide

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Senate campaign ends today with voters choosing between former Gov. Ellis Arnall and businessman Lester Maddox, exponents of widely opposing political views, particularly on racial matters.

The victor after the polls close tonight and the returns are tabulated will meet Rep. Howard (Bo) Callaway Georgia's lone first GOP candidate for governor in this era, in the Nov. 8 election.

Stowaway, 17, Safe After Long Flight in Wheel Well

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A 17-year-old Mexican stowaway was home safe in Queretaro today after a 2,000-mile flight from Colombia in the wheel compartment of a jet airliner.

"I was really scared part of the time," said Francisco Cuevas Garcia, "but I made it, and that's what I wanted to do — get home as quickly as possible."

Francisco said he got homesick after six months in Colombia but didn't have the money to take a plane back to Mexico. It would have taken too long to work his way home on a freighter — the way he went to Colombia.

"It's incredible, but he apparently did ride in the wheel well all the way from Bogota," said Ramon Watkins, the Mexico City manager for Colombia's Avianca Airline.

The four-engine jet flew as high as 34,000 feet through air temperatures as low as 45 degrees below zero, Watkins said.

Had to Be Helped

The lad was cramped into the wheel well so tightly that after the plane landed in Mexico City early Tuesday he could not get down. He had to call for help to mechanics servicing the plane.

Doctors looked him over, found nothing wrong and turned him over to Mexican immigration authorities. They established his Mexican citizenship.

"He's free now and left for Queretaro as soon as we let him go," an immigration official said Tuesday night.

Watkins said the plane's flight time from Bogota to Mexico City was more than four hours. The plane spent about an hour on the ground in Panama, its only stop.

Francisco said he sneaked into the wheel well about 30 minutes before the plane took off from Bogota Monday night. He squeezed to one side of the compartment and hoped the wheels would not crush him when they were retracted.

"The plane took off and the wheels started coming up and I thought I was going to be crushed," he said. "The wheels came in and I squeezed to one side as far as I could and saw they wouldn't mash me. Then the doors closed in the floor and everything was dark."

Mechanics serviced the plane in Panama but in the darkness didn't see Francisco huddled in the wheel well.

Castro on Revolutions

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Fidel Castro says you have to know what you're doing in order to run a successful revolution. His remarks were broadcast recently by Havana Radio.

The Cuban prime minister was asked how it is that armed revolutionary forces in other Latin-American lands have not won any outstanding victories. Castro replied: "Some political leaders don't know anything about technique. They don't know the strategy of armed conflict and worse, they are trying to direct it with the methods of small-time political committees."

REGISTER IBM EMPLOYEES—Three members of the staff of Ulster County Community College participated recently in the registration of IBM employees in the manufacturing technology training program. They are (l-r) James T. Varelas, registrar; Gregory F. Johnson, assistant professor of engineering and industrial technology and James C. Haviland, director of community services. Alvin L. Avery, extreme right, is manager of manufacturing technology training program at IBM.

20 Are Signed In UCCC Program

Ernest K. Friedli, assistant general manager of the IBM Systems Manufacturing Plant at Kingston, has announced the formation of an advanced manufacturing training program in cooperation with Ulster County Community College to prepare selected employees for advanced manufacturing assignments.

Called the Manufacturing Technology Training Program, the course of instruction combines practical training of selected employees in advanced manufacturing assignments, with college-level classroom instruction with full college academic credit conducted at the IBM plant by professors from the Ulster County Community College.

Three-Year Program

The program of instruction will last for three years and the participants will earn college credits upon satisfactory completion of their courses.

"We at the college are extremely pleased to join with IBM in this significant educational development," said Dr. Dale B. Lake, college president. "I think this cooperative venture demonstrates the flexibility of the college program and introduces a new dimension of the role of Ulster County Community College in helping an employer in our community to meet specific needs generated by the increasing complexity of our society."

"College officials not only cooperated in the design of the curriculum and in assigning faculty to teach the classes, but also arranged to complete the course registration for the fall semester, not at the college but at the IBM Plant, where the academic instruction will be offered," Dr. Lake continued. "We look forward to cooperating with IBM in this program and seeking new and broader avenues of service, not only to IBM and other employers, but to all of the people of our community."

The curriculum for the Manufacturing Technology Training Program will require a full 40-hour week, consisting of 12 to 16 hours of classroom instruction. The remainder of the time will be devoted to "hands on" experience in the tool room, the model shop, chemical laboratories, electronic test areas and the manufacturing floor. Classroom time will include instruction in technical mathematics, industrial electricity, electrical circuitry, electronics, physics, composition, technical writing and inorganic chemistry.

Need Is Noted

In discussing the need for such an exhaustive program of study, Friedli said, "We have known for quite some time that we have a need for additional highly-trained people in the mechanical, electronic, and chemical technology areas of our manufacturing operations. When we considered our plans for the future, with the type of equipment we plan to use and the new technologies that will be opening, it became obvious to us that there was a need for an advanced training program to help us meet the demands. The requirements for manpower with training in these critical skill areas could not be met through recruiting efforts, since the number of qualified people available was considerably less than the number we will require in the next few years."

"Therefore," Friedli continued, "we devised this program of instruction, through which we will train qualified IBM employees in the advanced manufacturing skills we will need in the near future."

"The program will cover a more comprehensive course of instruction than we have provided in the past," Friedli continued. "Our past training programs for higher-skilled manufacturing assignments were directed to tool-maker apprentice programs and model-maker training programs. When we consider the advanced equipment which we are using in manufacturing today, and think of the numerically-controlled equipment which will become an even more important part of our lives in the future, it behooves us to expand our training efforts to man the positions that this equipment will require."

"Needless to say, the accessibility of the Ulster County Community College has made it possible for us to offer a much better program of instruction today than we ever could in past manufacturing training programs."

Currently, 20 IBM Kingston employees have been accepted for training under the Manufacturing Technology Training Program.

Mrs. FDR Jr. Will Attend Dinner Of Liberal Party

Dutchess County Liberal Party announced this week that Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., will be a guest at the annual party supper Saturday at Poughkeepsie Inn. She will share the spotlight with Simeon Golar, candidate for attorney general and Ben Davidson, executive director of the Liberal Party, who will be principal speaker.

In addition to the aforementioned, the following candidates have indicated they will appear: Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick, Dem.-Liberal, Joseph A. Marvella, Lib. Senate 38th district, Mabel Chapman Lib. Assembly candidate, Ulster County, Victor Waryas, Dem.-Lib. Assembly 97th District, Judge Raymond Aldrich Jr., Rep.-Lib.-Cons. candidate for Family Court Judge, Bernard Kellner, Dem.-Lib. candidate for District Attorney of Dutchess County, Julius Jackson, Lib. candidate for sheriff of Dutchess County and Donald Short, Lib. candidate for Ulster County clerk.

A caravan will precede the supper climaxed with the opening of the Liberal Party Headquarters at 237 Main Street, Poughkeepsie by Mrs. Roosevelt Jr. at 4 p. m. Complete details of the caravan will be announced.

Jay Kosseff, party chairman also issued a statement criticizing action taken by Dutchess County Fair in regard to the renting of space to political parties. The statement follows:

"We view with alarm the action of the Dutchess County Fair Committee in excluding all political parties from renting space at the Fairgrounds during Fair Week. Who will be excluded next?"

"The spaces for the booths were paid for at the rate of $8 per foot of frontage. We question whether a non-profit organization may discriminate against its customers and we are now investigating the possibility of legal action. We particularly regret not being invited to plead our case before the Fair directors and we are dismayed at the lack of common courtesy displayed by the Fair Committee in not informing us of their action prior to releasing it to the news media."

Rocky Campaigns With Same Vigor He Showed in '58

By GERRY MCLAUGHLIN
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—In his quest for a third term as New York's governor, Nelson A. Rockefeller appears to have the same zest for political combat that marked his first venture into politics eight years ago.

He seems to abound in energy and ebullience as he follows a campaign trail that will have taken him thousands of miles by the Nov. 8 election. It is clear he is more than willing to invest the large amounts of money and mental and physical effort his task demands.

High-Powered

He has mounted the kind of high-powered campaign that carried him to political stardom and the governorship in 1958 and re-election in 1962.

A Rockefeller campaign tour involves trips by big, turbo-prop airplanes, helicopters, buses, or whatever accommodation is needed to get the candidate to the people.

Accompanying him usually are squads of aides, secretaries, State Police bodyguards and members of the press.

He often includes one or more of his running mates in his party. This year, for instance, he is trying to drum up public support for the only new face on the ticket—Charles T. (Chuck) Lanigan of Rome, the GOP candidate for comptroller.

A typical Rockefeller campaign swing begins with a strategy session in his section of the airplane or bus. He confers with such top aides as his counsel, Robert Douglas, on the problems of special interest in the areas to be visited.

Brimming with vitality, Rockefeller then moves down the aisle, greeting those who will ride with him throughout the day.

At each stop along the route, he takes a moment or two to contemplate before springing forward to meet the crowds.

If the weather is chilly, he dons the battered gray hat and wrinkled white raincoat he regards as his election luck charms. He has worn them on campaign trips for luck since 1958.

Although some of the Rockefeller charm has been rubbed away by familiarity and events of eight years, the governor still is at his best in person-to-person meetings.

He smiles often, pumps hundreds of hands vigorously, scrawls "Rocky" for anyone who seeks his autograph.

"Hi, nice to see you," he says. "Thanks for coming. I really appreciate it."

A reaction often heard is:

"You get the impression he's really interested in you when he's talking to you."

His audiences include teenagers, men and women in their 60s, factory workers worried about inflation, businessmen wondering about future taxes.

He meets the people indoors and out, in factories and at picnics.

If his stomach has weakened over the last eight years, the governor gives no sign of it. He munches barbecued beef at picnics, chocolate cookies at women's gatherings and jokingly steals potato chips from tots.

At the end of the day, lines of weariness stretch from the corners of his eyes. When all of the shouting, the music, the crowd pressures are behind him, Rockefeller is glad to relax in his seat on the bus or the plane.

The exertions are part of the price of power. And he's paying on the installment plan.

Says U.S. Knew Of Plane Deal

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—The U.S. government knew of the deal to export 20 B-26 bombers to a European company shortly after financial arrangements were made, a Tucson, Ariz., banker says.

The testimony of Dallas M. Coors, an assistant vice president of the Southern Arizona Bank & Trust Co. in Tucson, came Tuesday during a trial of three men in U.S. District Court. The trio are charged with conspiring to export illegally seven of the World War II planes to Portugal last year.

Ferried Without License

The government said the airplanes were ferried without an export license or the written permission of the U.S. Department of State.

Coors, a government witness, testified that between April 23 and Aug. 9, 1965 his bank paid a total of $296,010 to Aero Associates Inc. of Tucson for the delivery of seven bombers and spare parts.

This sum included $12,000 that was paid to John Hawke, 28, one of the defendants.

Hawke, a former British Royal Air Force pilot now living in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., is alleged to have flown the aircraft to Portugal.

Coors said his bank arranged for a $694,550 letter of credit from Luber S.A. of Geneva, Switzerland, to Aero Associates. On trial with Hawke are Henri de Montmarin, 58, a Paris businessman accused of ordering the bombers for Luber, and Woodrow W. Roderick, 47, of Winnipeg, Man., now living in the U.S. who is accused of executing the contract.

Judge John O. Henderson is presiding at the trial which began last week after the selection of a jury of 10 men and two women.

Coors testified that Gordon B. Hamilton of Tucson, whose firm Hamilton Aircraft Co., Tucson, took the aircraft out of mothballs and prepared them for flight, advised U.S. Customs of the bomber deal shortly after its inception. Hamilton is not a defendant in the case.

The government says Aero Associates contracted to purchase the bombers from Hamilton's firm.

Coors said the letter of credit was issued after he met several times with Montmarin and Gregory Board, a principal in Aero Associates. Board, a native of Australia and a naturalized U.S. citizen, also was indicted on the conspiracy charges and is sought by the U.S.

His last address was in Tucson and he is believed to be in Jamaica, West Indies.

The letter called for scattered payments to the Aero Associates after documents were presented to the bank.

PROCLAIMS 4-H WEEK—Charles Relyea, seated, chairman of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors, has designated the week of Sept. 24-Oct. 1 as 4-H Week in Ulster County. Chairman Relyea praised the 4-H for its many fine achievements and high standards over the years. Witnessing the signing were, left to right, Steven

LeFevre, a 4-H member from New Paltz; Chairman Relyea; Anna Mary Portz, 4-H member and junior leader from Hurley; and Carlton Conklin, 4-H extension agent. Over 900 4-H youth will be observing 4-H Week in Ulster County. (Freeman photo by Wagenfahr.)

Naming Valenti Raised Eyebrows In Film Industry

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—When

Jack Valenti was named president of the Motion Picture Producers Association April 26, a few industry figures sniffed. "What does he know about the picture business?"

Was Unfamiliar

At that time, Valenti knew little more about films than did predecessors Will Hays and Eric Johnston when they also were plucked from the political arena to head the film industry. The White House aide to President Johnson had one brush with the business: to earn money for college, he sold popcorn and took tickets at Houston's Irish Theater.

As his longtime Houston friends may have expected, Valenti gave himself a quick and thorough education in matters cinematic. His course has included everything from talking techniques with Shirley MacLaine to reading Pauline Kael's "I Lost It At The Movies."

The 44-year-old son of Italian immigrants was in town to unveil the industry's new, simplified self-censorship code and to continue his extensive dialogue with the people who make movies. He paused between engagements to discuss his experience thus far in the film business.

Talks to Many

"I find it very important to talk to as many people in the film business as I can," he said as he sipped coffee in his hotel suite. "I had 100 meetings with every segment of the business before we arrived at our new code."

"In New York I sat down with Elia Kazan, Sidney Lumet, Joseph Mankiewicz, Alan Pakula and Walter Wanger and we talked for three hours. These are tough men, but I think they went away saying, 'This guy is going to try to make things better.'"

"This morning I'm going to visit Sam Goldwyn, a founder of the association and a man whose wisdom I could benefit from. I went to George Hamilton's party for Lynda Bird and I had some illuminating conversations. I found Robert Mitchum to be a very intelligent, thoughtful man. I also had some good talks with Rex Harrison, Glenn Ford and Anthony Newley.

Not Wasting Time

"Some people say I'm wasting my time talking to so many people. I don't think so. I'm setting up a dialogue with the creators who make the movies, and they are much more important than any balance sheets."

Valenti listens during these conversations, but he also expounds on his three main objectives. 1. To bring young talent into the industry—"by 1980, our population between the ages of 10 and 25 will double to 60 million; we must prepare for that"; 2. To exhort the industry to lift its level of excellence—"I have no authority to do so, but I hope to be a gadfly, a catalyst, an importuner for better quality in films"; 3. To live up to the code "with honesty and without hypocrisy."

Addresses Students

EUGENE, Ore. (AP)— Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, fresh from encountering a bitter anti-Viet Nam war demonstration in Portland, told University of Oregon students today that "we persist in our efforts to bring the war to a negotiated settlement."

"Overwhelming military power alone is not an adequate response to the wars of national liberation," Humphrey said in his prepared remarks.

He said the recent election "was a recognition that the social revolution needed in Viet Nam must rest on a solid, popular political base."

But, he added, progress "will be threatened so long as the war in Viet Nam continues." He said this country's position was clearly for suspending bombing of North Viet Nam in exchange for "reduction of cessation of infiltration by Hanoi," and "we are prepared to see the National Liberation Front represented in peace negotiations."

The Hudson Valley Coin Show had its display, sale and auction on the last Sunday of the month at the Governor Clinton Hotel. I understand it is held there every month on the last Sunday. Per-

Lanesville

LANESVILLE—Miss Florence Drew of Rutland, Vt. was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Hoyt for a few days.

Mrs. Laura Quick and Mrs. Raymond Van Leuvan of Allaben and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Quick visited Mr. and Mrs. Ora Rose and son James at Olivebridge Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Berryann and family of Mt. Tremper spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Burton Berryann and family Sunday.

The Stony Clove Rod and Gun Club will hold its annual turkey shoot at the club house Sunday, Oct. 2 from 10 a. m. to dark.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Schmidt of Wilmington, Del. spent a few days with his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Decker.

Miss Addie Jansen of Ossining is spending time with her sister Mrs. Sydney Bowser.

haps the readers have a coin which they have carried around for sometime and wonder what it is worth, or someone offers a small amount for it. The coin show brings dealers and friends together, so that the owner of a coin can go from one to the other and find out the true value. They all have books and can look it up, if they do not know off hand. I have found, that what the dealers say a coin is worth, or if it is only worth face value as my coins seems to be, that is the true picture.

Also at 6 p. m. on the day of the show they have an auction, and a list is given to each visitor, which gives the description of the coin, the estimated value and the minimum bid. For instance a 1960 one cent, small date, uncirculated is worth $9 but lowest bid accepted is $5. A 1955-S one cent, estimated value $1.25. If you happen to have a 1933 Lincoln one cent, brilliant uncirculated the estimated value is $23.00. Thus the value of some coins go up in no time at all.

The Kingston Stampclubbers, a stamp club meets at the YWCA twice a month on Thursdays. There you can bring your stamps and cards and again you will find stamp collectors with books that will tell you what the stamp is worth if anything. I find one cannot argue about history with a stamp collector. He usually can reel off dates, battles, places and leaders and dictators of countries without hesitation. Stamp collecting is a hobby, also one learns no end of history and geography, that is why I am so surprised our million dollar school castles do not take an interest in this "culture-study."

Several times I have been told by those in high school and community college, that they have to give so much to study that they do not have time to read the books and articles they would like to read. I remember some years ago it was said if one read a good daily newspaper it was an education in itself. Everything is there in clear, concise language, yet I find from time to time even teachers in our schools do not read the local papers because "they are not from here" so do not take an interest in local events.

Well perhaps stories about such figures as Uncle Sam will interest anyone living in the United States. I found an article in the November 1960 Coronet on Uncle Sam. Sam Wilson was a real person, a meat packer in Troy, N. Y. and was given a subcontract by Elbert Anderson, of New York City, to supply the War Department during the War of 1812. Alton Ketchum, the author of this illustrated article, showing a handsome, bearded Uncle Sam leaning on his barrels marked "Salt Fork, Beef, U.S.," as each barrel of salted meat was stamped with "E. A." for Elbert Anderson and big "U.S." six inches high for Uncle Sam. One of the workmen did not connect US with United States, so said it must for Uncle Sam, and the name stuck.

Lucius Wilson, a great-nephew of Sam Wilson said he looked "in form and carriage like Abraham Lincoln, tall, with high cheek bones, clean-shaven and grey hair he wore rather long. Had a good sense of humor." In 1813 Uncle Sam was mentioned in a broadside. Before that a Brother Jonathan as a human symbol for U. S. was used, representing a New Englander. Uncle Sam character remained beardless until the Civil War, when Lincoln was shown often pictured in stars and stripes. Then Thomas Nast, the great cartoonist began to draw his Uncle Sam's in the '70s, always with a beard as we know him today.

DODGE REBELLION OPERATION '67

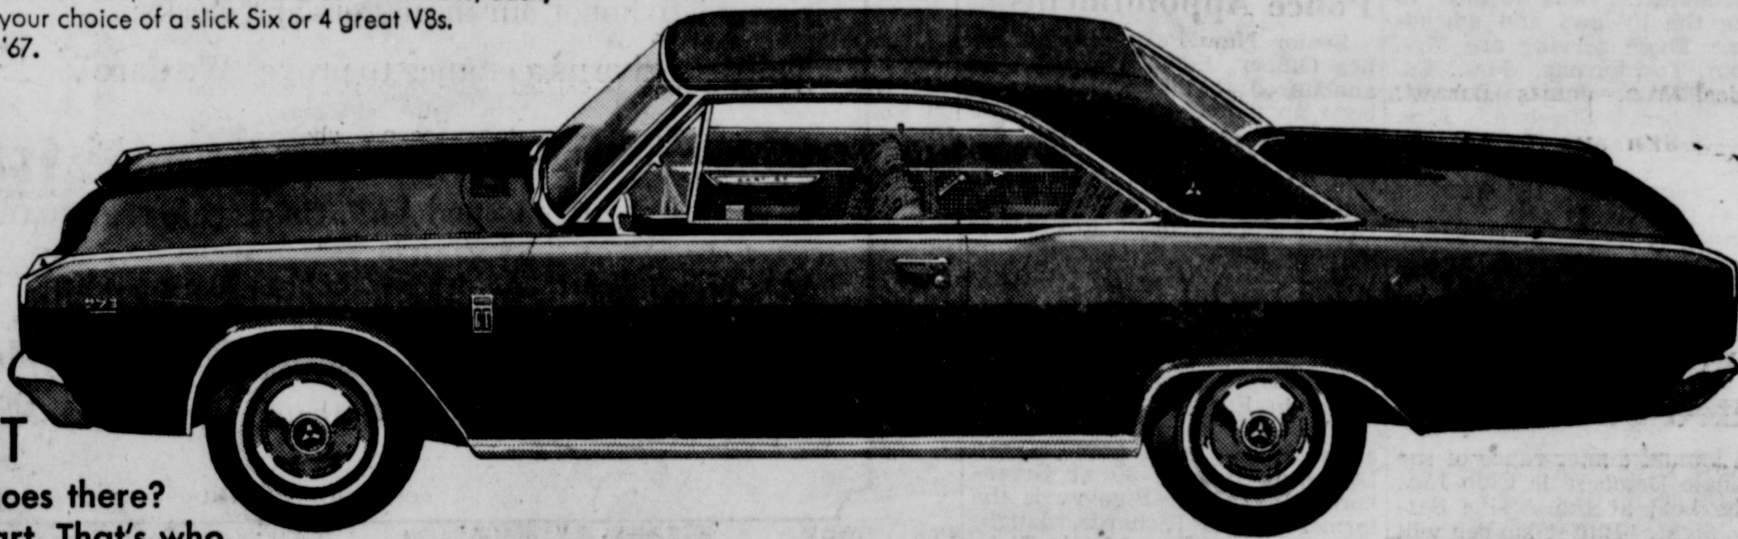

Fresh off the drawing board with an arsenal of powerful new ammunition. Bigger. Longer. Sharper. Hot new Dodges to back the attack on dull driving. Dart, Coronet, Polara, Monaco, Charger. Check them out today. The Dodge Rebellion will get you if you don't watch out.

'67 CORONET

Advance and be recognized. We know you. You're '67 Coronet.

Last year's biggest selling Dodge gets all freshened up, all sharpened up for another big assault on the drab Sixes and dull V8s. And you know what we mean. The ones you've had enough of. You're ready for Coronet. You're ready to move out of that deep rut and into a car with class, dash, and lots of it—with your choice of a slick Six or 4 great V8s. That's Coronet for '67.

'67 DART

Wow! Who goes there?

'67 Dodge Dart. That's who.

That's Dart, all right—totally new. Through-and-through new. New long, low silhouette. New plush interiors. New easy-to-read, easy-to-operate dash instrumentation. New performance, too. With a choice of engines from the supersmooth 170-cu.-in. Six to the 273-cu.-in. 4-bbl. V8. Not to mention a host of new safety features. But there's one thing you'll recognize about '67 Dart—its low price. It's still got compact written all over it. Why resist? Enlist. Dart for 1967.

'67 MONACO

Full speed ahead.

Monaco, flagship of the '67 Dodge fleet.

If you're determined to go first-cabin in '67, here's the way to go... Monaco. Extras? Everywhere. Everything a luxury-lover ever looked for—even optional vinyl-covered bucket seats and headrests, if you wish. Plus the power of the standard 383-cu.-in. V8 up to the 440-Magnum, optional at extra cost, to put you ahead of the pack.

Indians to March In Chest Parade

The Troop 12 B.S.A. Indians Drum and Bugle Corps, will march in the Community Chest parade Saturday starting at 7 p. m. from the Kingston High School. The parade will finish at Diet Stadium where a show will be presented to the residents in the area presenting the services of the 13 agencies. Entertainment acts and awards and a fireworks display will follow.

The Troop 12 Corps, under the direction of Ralph Shapiro, was organized in 1939 as a Boy Scout Drum Corps. The Corps has participated in many patriotic and Scouting functions through the years, including four National Boy Scout Jamborees. During an exhibition at the New York World's Fair in 1964, the Indians entire drill was filmed for Italian Television.

The Corps first appeared in their Indian uniforms in 1960. These were patterned from an authentic Woodland Indian Ceremonial Costume, a transition from the traditional Scout Uniform which brought about their nickname, "The Indians."

During their long and colorful history, the Indians have traveled thousands of miles, as far west as Colorado Springs. Currently they are the Hudson Valley Drum Corps Association Champions. They are also members of the Hudson-Berkshire and the Northeastern M & M Circuits.

Body Identified

Identity of the body of a man washed ashore Monday at the Port Rensselaer has been identified as William Doran, 65, of Pittsfield, Mass. Identity was established through fingerprints by the FBI in Washington. Police said the man was a painter and a widower. His sister, Mrs. Ann LaCourse of Pittsfield, confirmed the identification. It was first believed the body of the man might be that of one who was seen falling from a bridge at Albany or that of a missing river boat crewman.

NEW PALTZ NEWS

Telephone Office Plans Open House Wednesday Night

NEW PALTZ — Lawrence R. McMullen, New York Telephone Company manager, has announced an open house for New Paltz subscribers will be held on Wednesday, Sept. 28, between the hours of 6 and 9 p. m. McMullen said, "we would like our own subscribers to see the new office, so that they can get a first hand view of the many changes."

The building is at 10 Harrington Street.

Garden Club Has 1st Fall Parley

The first fall meeting of the New Paltz Garden Club was held recently in the Fireside Room of the Reformed Church Education Building.

Through the efforts of two of the members, Mrs. David Rosenbaum and Mrs. Richard Klitz, an interesting and varied program was presented.

Mrs. Rosenbaum spoke on Coordinating Flowers with Our Tables and illustrated her talk with some table settings, with arrangements, and some individual arrangements.

Mrs. Richard Klitz entertained with colored slides of India.

Hostesses for the evening were Miss Helena Olds, Mrs. David Rosenbaum and Mrs. Frank Knieval.

The refreshment committee was Miss Mavis Taylor, Mrs. Teresa Waters, Mrs. Charles Still, Mrs. Wilson Dayger and Mrs. Leland Heinz.

Jaynees Start Fund Projects

The New Paltz Jaynees have reported they are selling Christmas candles as a fund raising project in their homes. It is reported that sales are going well.

Wednesday, Sept. 21, a program at the Yellow Cottage of the Highland Training School was sponsored by the group. The boys had a cook-out with hot dogs and soft drinks, around a fire which they built with the assistance of Douglas Baker, a Cub Scout leader from New Paltz. Baker also led the boys in song and later told a few stories.

The next meeting of the Jaynees will be held at the home of Mrs. Maureen Burke of Highland, Oct. 18. Anyone contemplating membership, may contact Mrs. Janis Van Kleek for details and consider attending the next meeting.

Police Appointments

Senior New Paltz Village Police Officer, Edward Walsh, has announced that Edwin Cole has been appointed along with Gary Schneider to the New Paltz Police Force. Mr. Cole is 28, married, and resides on New Paltz Road. Walsh reports that the two new policemen are working out fine.

Area Social Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kelly of Cedar Ridge Road, has returned home after spending several weeks in Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Bigelow are parents of a daughter, Karen Luane, born Aug. 30 at Greenboro, N. C. Mrs. Bigelow is the former Elaine Richards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Richards of Farmholm, New Paltz.

Mrs. John Beaver and Mrs. Charles Palen of Esopus, and Mrs. Jerome DePuy of Mountain Rest Road, were recent luncheon guests of Mrs. Cecil DePuy of Cherry Hill Road.

Mrs. J. Badami of Upper Main Street, has returned home from the hospital.

Mrs. Victor Landau of 5 Lincoln Place, New Paltz, has returned home after a three-week stay in Russia as a member of the Citizen's Exchange Corps. A pilot project was initiated in the summer of 1965 and this year saw three contingents of enthusiastic volunteers complete successful trips.

Rondout Rescue Squad Building Almost Done

The doors on the Rondout Valley First Aid and Rescue Squad's new building will be definitely installed this week.

This was learned at the monthly meeting of the squad Sept. 19. It was also announced that tickets are available for the squad's Turkey Day, the date of which will be announced soon. The squad is sponsoring a class in first aid but needs 15 or more persons to fill it. Anyone interested is asked to contact either Raymond Wright, John Meyer or Lloyd Spearman.

Cigarettes May Be Sent to Viet Vets Tax Free

The Elks National Service

Commission, dedicated to American hospitalized veterans and servicemen, has notified William G. Davis, exalted ruler of Kingston Lodge No. 550, BPO Elks that cigarettes may be sent to service men in Viet Nam for less than 11 cents a pack if ordered directly from the manufacturer.

Asking that the "letters from home" continue to flow to the men in Viet Nam, James T. Hallinan, chairman of the Elks National Service Commission, suggests that while October 1 is the deadline for most Christmas packages, cigarettes are always welcome by servicemen and arrangements have been made to have the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company ship cigarettes directly to servicemen from their own community personally.

Taxfree cigarettes can be sent, as gifts, to individuals in the U.S. Armed Forces in Viet Nam under this tax-free plan. The donor fills out a special application blank which is obtainable at the Elks Club and remits to the company in Winston-Salem, N.C., and the parcel of 100 packages is shipped through Army and Fleet post offices to the recipient. The package of 10 cartons, at less than 11 cents per pack, is free of federal, state and local cigarette taxes.

Flatfish is a name given to several salt-water fishes.

Social Security Handbook Ready On Medicare Laws

"Where can I find out about what my health insurance under social security covers?" This is a question frequently asked today, according to George J. Habernig, district manager of Social Security Administration, Kingston.

Habernig said that an excellent source of information is the reference book which has been supplied to every beneficiary. It is the green Medicare Handbook which is divided into two sections, one covering hospital insurance, the other medical insurance.

The first section explains in detail the important role of the health insurance card, now hospital insurance works, inpatient hospital benefits, extended care and home health benefits after hospitalization, outpatient diagnostic benefits, a "spell of illness," some frequently asked questions and answers, and how hospital insurance benefits are financed.

The second section explains how medical insurance works; how, when, and where to claim medical insurance benefits; medical services and supplies; and home health services. It also covers monthly premiums, how to figure the $50 deductible, and includes request for payment forms.

There are also excellent charts in the handbook which show what medicare will cover and what it will not cover.

"If you have misplaced or lost your Handbook, your social security office will be glad to you another one free of charge," Habernig said.

"Another excellent source of information would be the people in your social security office who are always glad to assist you by answering any questions you have pertaining to social security or medicare. Your social security office is located at 57 Albany Avenue," he added.

Variety, Change Mark Program for Members of 4-H

The 4-H program has been marked by change since its inception more than 60 years ago. Greater variety of educational projects, more emphasis on the improvement of the boy and girl and a program with appeal for young people everywhere, are some of the changes.

A more recent but no less important change, is the demand for 4-H in towns and cities across the country. Still an important educational force in rural America, more than 77 per cent of its members reside in rural areas, nearly a half million 4-H members now live in towns and cities of 2,500 or more. A decade ago, 86.5 per cent lived on farms and in rural areas and 18.5 per cent in urban areas. In Ulster County 25 per cent of the enrollment is rural; 50 per cent rural non-farm and 25 per cent urban.

Opportunities Increased

To meet the changing needs of youth, 4-H has increased its educational projects and opportunities. Among the new offerings are: automotive care and safety, home management, personality development, conservation, horse, dog care and obedience and community beautification. These are being supplemented with intensified activities of career exploration, science, health, nutrition, recreation, public speaking and safety. For the young person with suitable facilities, the proven standard projects are highly recommended.

All young people 9-19 years of age living in Ulster County are invited to learn of the opportunities offered by 4-H. They are invited to call or contact the 4-H offices at 74 John Street. "Now is a particularly good time to inquire about 4-H with new groups forming and established clubs being reorganized, during National 4-H Week, Sept. 24-Oct. 1," it was reported.

Accord Class Housed At Temporary Site

The primary class of the Accord Elementary School, taught by Mrs. Susan Doehler, is being housed in the Accord Fire Hall pending the completion of three temporary units at the school. The Accord School opened in September expecting a registration of 209. Instead the end of the first week saw 233 children in attendance.

Although Mrs. Doehler's class is hampered by lack of blackboard space, storage cabinets, and play area, there has been no diminution of instructional program. Mrs. Doehler has rearranged the room several times in an attempt to make the space more adaptable to the needs of the class. She is assisted for about 45 minutes each day by Mrs. Dorothea Mikalonis, a teacher's aide. In good weather the primary children walk the short distance to the school for lunch in the cafeteria; in bad weather they are transported by bus. They have been taught what to do in case of fire, and are anticipating the first time the fire siren blows, so they can see what happens.

Communication skills are stressed in the primary classes. Learning to read, learning to write and learning to speak well are the subjects that occupy the greater part of the instructional time.

Emily Dickinson, noted poetess, was born Dec. 11, 1830.

Sedita Scores Prison Time Off for Rocky

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The warden of Clinton State Prison says he would extend to any governor "the same courtesy," in answer to charges that prison employees received time off to attend a rally for Gov. Rockefeller.

Frank A. Sedita, mayor of Buffalo and Democratic candidate for state attorney general, charged Tuesday that employees of the prison at Dannemora, near Plattsburgh, received compensatory time to attend political rallies held by the governor.

Sedita showed Albany County Democratic party workers what he said was a notice posted on a bulletin board at the prison.

According to Sedita, the poster called for all employees to greet the governor upon his arrival at the Plattsburgh airport during a recent Upstate swing.

The notice read, in part: "I request all officers, who are able, to be at the airport in uniform as a matter of courtesy."

A postscript said that "compensatory time will be given for those who attend."

The mayor said the notice was an "inducement" that "Rockefeller hasn't got the right to do, even if he is governor."

A spokesman for the governor said Rockefeller had no knowledge of the notice and that the matter was up to Daniel McMann, warden of the prison.

McMann, who has been warden for two and a half years, said such arrangements have "been the procedure in this prison for many years."

LASER GYROSCOPE casts an eerie light during final inspection before delivery to the Navy's Ordnance Test Station, China Lake, Calif. Built by Honeywell, Inc., it is the world's first operational three-axis laser gyroscope and is expected to have important aircraft and aerospace applications in addition to its immediate marine function of sensing the roll, pitch and yaw of a ship at sea which affect accuracy of search radar and weapons control.

"I will say that anytime any governor elected by the people of this state, no matter what party, comes to this area, I would extend them the same courtesy, and that includes compensatory time for off-duty guards," McMann said. Sedita said, "If the governor wants to increase his crowds as he campaigns, let him use his own darn money. What right has he got to be using taxpayers' money?"

Wilson Offers Data On Vote Questions

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS THREE AND FOUR

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Ulster County today released the third in a series of informational articles on the 12 state-wide questions which will be presented to the voters at this year's election. Today the Assemblyman describes the proposed Third and Fourth Amendments to the State Constitution which deal with bonded indebtedness for cities, towns and villages, as well as the question of further assistance to the State's mentally ill and mentally retarded.

According to Assemblyman Wilson, the various cities, towns, and villages of the State are prohibited by law from incurring any additional bonded indebtedness for public housing or urban renewal projects in excess of 2 per cent of the average assessed valuation of all real property in the municipality which is subject to taxation. Wilson added the average is computed from the total amount of assessed valuation in the municipality within a five-year period. The Assemblyman said the proposed constitutional amendment would allow all cities, towns, and villages to increase their bonded indebtedness for public housing and urban renewal by permitting the municipalities to apply the 2 per cent limit against the average full valuation of taxable property, rather than the assessed valuation. As an example, Wilson cited the fact that under the existing constitutional limitation, the City of Kingston could increase its bonded indebtedness for public housing or urban renewal by about $800,000, but that under the proposed amendment that could be increased to almost $2.4 million dollars.

Concerning the proposed Amendment Four, Assemblyman Wilson explained that in most cases the State Constitution forbids the granting or loaning of state funds for private purposes, and that the only exceptions to this now are in the cases of funds granted or loaned for educational or welfare purposes, or for the care and support of persons who are blind, deaf, dumb, or otherwise physically handicapped. Mr. Wilson said that under the provisions of the proposed constitutional amendment, a further exception would be made for the care, education, and support of persons who are mentally ill, emotionally disturbed, or mentally retarded.

Rochester GOP Will Meet on Oct. 4

The Town of Rochester Republican Club will hold its regular monthly meeting at the Tobacco Firehouse at 8 p. m. on Tuesday, Oct. 4. Bruce Schoonmaker, program chairman, announced that County Investigator Thomas Mayone will be the main speaker. Mayone has spoken to various groups and organizations throughout Ulster County on the subject of narcotics.

There will be a brief business meeting prior to Mayone's talk. Ladies of the First District will provide refreshments. Romeo Muller, president, urges a large attendance at this meeting.

U.S. to Help Jakarta

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has agreed to provide Indonesia with what Indonesian sources here described as less than $50 million in emergency assistance.

The agreement followed discussions Tuesday between Foreign Minister Adam Malik of Indonesia and President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Rusk and Malik said in a joint statement after the meetings the aid agreement includes additional rice, cotton and spare parts for machinery. No figure was given.

Delay Second Phase

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department says it is delaying until after the beginning of fiscal 1968 the remainder of its program of hiring civilians to replace military men in noncombat jobs.

In Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's manpower utilization program, the Defense Department is attempting to replace 75,000 military men with 60,000 civilians by the end of this year.

Although officials said Tuesday only 49 per cent of the high-level jobs — those involving scientists, engineers and data processors — had been filled by Aug. 1, they expected to meet the 1966 goal.

But they said the second phase of the program would be delayed.

Baptists Hold Program For School Promotions

Sunday was Promotion Day at the Olive-Shokan Baptist Church. During the regular morning worship service, the following students were presented certificates of promotion:

From Beginner to Primary—Cheryl Ronk, Tommy Thompson, Susan Faulkner, June Ann Hoag, Cathy Carey, James Wilson, Jr., George Smith, Kenneth Barringer.

From Junior to Intermediate—David Barringer, Nancy Smythe, Louise Faulkner, Annette Faulkner, Roland Phillips, Racine Shurter.

The officers and teachers for 1966-67 were recognized and charged with the responsibility of Bible teaching. After a pledge of dedication to Christian service, Lawrence Every, Sunday school superintendent, led in a prayer of dedication.

Special music was presented by the following members of the Primary class: Cindy Ronk, Michel Higley, Donna Thompson, Raymond Nichols Jr., Robert Wilson.

The message of the morning was brought by Mr. Every who spoke on Why I Believe in Sunday School. The service was concluded by congregational singing.

40-Year Term Over

DETROIT (AP) — Forty years of prison life ended Tuesday for Roy Logan, 65.

Wayne County Circuit Judge Joseph A. Sullivan released Logan from Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson. He was given five years probation.

Logan asked for the probation because he wasn't sure of the life facing him outside.

Logan did not have a lawyer assigned to him until the first day of his trial, the judge said, and the attorney did not have time to prepare a defense.

The Salvation Army has offered Logan shelter, food — and maybe a job.

To Honor Sergeant

BROWNWOOD, Tex. (AP) — Hometown folks turn out today to honor William O. Wooldridge, the first soldier to serve as sergeant major of the Army.

The "Bill Wooldridge Day" observance starts with the arrival of the 44-year-old Army veteran. He'll receive awards and citations from a number of dignitaries, including Texas Lt. Gov. Preston Smith. Then comes a downtown parade in his honor.

The position of sergeant major of the Army was created in July.

Ride the Wide-Track winning streak!

From the same drawing board that gave you Grand Prix, GT⁶ and Overhead Cam Six now come the newest Pontiacs since the invention of Wide-Track!

You're looking at the most beautiful Pontiacs ever to ride on Wide-Track. The incomparable GTO returns with a 335-hp 400 cubic inch engine under a magnificently refined new skin. Or you can order the 255-hp version or the fabulous new 360-hp Quadra-Power 400. And for the first time, you can order your GTO with our famous three-speed Turbo Hydra-Matic.

The Le Mans comes back better than ever. Bright new interiors. Bold new colors. Naturally the superb 165-hp Overhead Cam Six is standard. You can specify a 215-hp version, a lively 250-hp regular gas V-8 (or its 285-hp premium gas cousin) on all Le Mans and Tempests. Or step into the neatest grand-touring car this side of the Atlantic with our OHC 6 Sprint package.

Our big Pontiacs are new from the famous split grille to the slickest engineering innovation of the year—disappearing windshield wipers! They're less subject to icing and freezing. And only Pontiac has them. Also new: a Grand Prix convertible!

There are new 400 and 428 cubic inch V-8s. New safety features such as front seat belt retractors, a four-way traffic hazard flasher, folding front seat back latches and General Motors' new energy absorbing steering column.

Of course, all Pontiacs come with the road-hugging security of Wide-Track. So see your Pontiac dealer for a test drive!

Kingston, New York

Dear Mr. Thomas:

Expresses Appreciation

The recent public relations award to the Kingston Water Department by the New York State Section of the American Water Works Association was realized mainly through the cooperation of your publication. For this cooperation and particularly the factual reporting of Water Department information by Mr. Charles Douglas of your staff, may I extend my sincere thanks.

We have endeavored to keep the citizens of Kingston aware of the vital importance this department is to them and to the welfare and growth of our city. We trust we may have your continued help to accomplish this aim.

Very truly yours,

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A School of Fine Arts has recently been inaugurated in Beirut. It is attached to the Lebanese University and includes about 100 students.

Robbins Going To TB Sessions

John M. Robbins, Association president, will represent the Ulster County TB and Health Association at meetings in Syracuse, Thursday through Saturday, Sept. 29 to Oct. 1, of the New York State Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association, the local group's state affiliate.

The principal issue at the Syracuse sessions will be the reorganization of the State's 39 Christmas Seal groups in every county of upstate New York to streamline services to the public and the health professions.

Robbins noted, "To keep pace with the changing health situation in diseases of the chest, we constantly re-vamp our program to meet the most pressing needs of the public and the health professions. Periodically, we also re-examine the basic structure of the organization to make sure that we're constituted to do the job as effectively as possible. Tuberculosis eradication can be achieved, we know, if we're vigorous in employing the latest and best methods in public health. The other respiratory diseases, particularly emphysema, demand new forms of attack to meet the alarming rise in incidence."

The chief address at the meeting will be given by G. Gordon Beck, president of the Texas Tuberculosis Association, which has undergone a major overhaul of its structure. Beck will speak on Reorganization Texas Style."

Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb Sr., president Emeritus of the Ulster County TB group, also will be attending the sessions as a member of the Board of State Association.

The Ulster County TB and Health Association, which has conducted its long and effective TB and Health program in Ulster County since 1909, conducts programs of public and professional health education, patient services, services to school and youth groups, and supports research. The Association recently organized and conducted in conjunction with the schools a county-wide School X-ray Program in all of the centralized school systems in Ulster County, and currently is planning a like program for the Kingston Consolidated Schools. This X-raying of all faculty, staff and bus drivers is geared to protecting our youth from tuberculosis infection. The Association also is providing times for Tuberculin Testing of all admissions to the pediatrics departments at the Kingston, Benedictine and Ellenville Community Hospitals. The group also shared in support of the nation-wide magazine educational promotion, "Your Breathing Problems" to provide professional information to the lay public concerning their respiratory breathing problems.

The Association, as one of Ulster County's oldest voluntary health agencies provides its entire professional and lay educational program services to patients, school health programs and X-ray and testing programs entirely from Christmas Seal dollars provided by Ulster County people.

Socialist Labor

Editor, The Freeman:
I was pleased to read in The Freeman of Sept. 16 the AP dispatch from Albany to the effect that the Socialist Labor Party had filed its petitions that day with the Secretary of State so that its candidates can appear on the ballot in the coming election. As of now, I do not know on what line the Socialist Labor Party candidates will appear on the ballot. I hope that the Socialist Labor Party, by virtue of the fact that it was the first party to file, will be the fifth party on the ballot, which would be Row E.

In helping to gather signatures in Sullivan and here in Ulster County, I found that voters were NOT at all reluctant to sign the Socialist Labor Party petitions. It will be interesting to see what the Socialist Labor Party vote this year will be compared to four years ago.

Sincerely yours
NATHAN PRESSMAN

Reason for Benches Removal 'Now Suspect' Petition Says

Petitions, protesting the long delay in restoring benches to the Woodstock Village Green, were forwarded by mail to the Woodstock Town Board Tuesday. The petitions, bearing the signatures of more than 80 local residents, urged that the benches, removed many weeks ago, be returned without further delay.

Said the petitions, in part: "We deplore the fact that the benches were removed from the Green at the height of the summer season, ostensibly for repairs, and feel that sufficient time has elapsed for their restoration and return."

The petitions also note that "the prolonged absence of the benches is a continuing hardship to many of our senior citizens and elderly persons who wait for buses in that area."

Cross Party Line
Significantly, the petitions cross party lines with both Republicans and Democrats advocating the return of the green-and-white, wooden and concrete benches which once lined the sidewalks around the green. Some of those who signed also noted that they were violently opposed to the two signs which were recently placed on the green and which read "Keep Off Grass—Violation of Town ordinance."

Of more than passing interest is the fact that one petition bears the signature of a present member of the Woodstock Planning Board, as well as a former member of this town appointed agency.

Both men are noted for their dedication to the preservation of natural beauty; apparently feel that the benches and those who utilize them do nothing to mar the landscape locally.

Others Signing
Among others who have signed the appeal to the town fathers are a former member of the Town Board itself and several residents involved in the real estate business, who would most certainly have a vested interest in whatever impression is given to prospective customers by occupancy of the green. Other signatures include those of well known authors, artists, an attorney and various owners of business establishments in the Village Green area.

The covering letter which accompanied the petitions suggested that Supervisor William R. West's stated reason for the removal of the benches earlier in the summer "now seem suspect" in view of the long delay in their return.

Actually, the benches in question have not had a lengthy Woodstock history. For many long years, the green boasted only two rock slab benches, fronting the War Memorial flag pole and flower bed. Only a very few short years ago were the extra benches added. Their removal this summer coincided with the date when two new Woodstock ordinances went into effect. The ordinances were aimed at establishing a curfew on the Village Green, in addition to curfews on other town owned properties — and in eliminating public drinking and late hour noise.

Reason Was Repairs
Supervisor West's stated reason for their removal (which is now being questioned) was that the benches were in need of repairs. Presumably they were to be braced and repainted by workers for the Woodstock highways department, under Superintendent William Ke'mentis. Only a half dozen or so benches were involved and many feel the work should have taken only a few short days.

The petition should by now be in the hands of the Town Board and will presumably have to be included on the agenda of the next Board meeting.

Congressional Candidates Will Debate Here

The political bandwagon rolls into Woodstock under full steam next month when all four candidates currently running for the Congressional seat in this 28th District descend on Town Hall. The four will appear onstage here to discuss their philosophies and platforms under the sponsor-

There will be a driver Education fee per term and the hours for road training will be arranged by the instructor. A Learner's Permit is required to register for this course.

Further information may be obtained by calling the Director of Adult Education at the High School.

JOSEPH Y. RESNICK ship of the Woodstock Jaycees, who are running their first "Candidates Night" in local history.

The quartet will meet in one of their rare face-to-face encounters on Wednesday, Oct. 12, at 8 p. m., at Town Hall, and the public is invited to fill the hall; hear their varying views.

Participating will be incumbent Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick, Ellenville Democrat, who catapulted to fame two years ago when he wrested the traditional Republican seat from Rep. J. Ernest Wharton, who had succeeded a long line of GOP Congressmen and had held the position for 14 years. Resnick has gone on to become a national figure.

Also on the platform will be Hamilton Fish Jr., youthful Dutchess County attorney, who catapulted his historic family back into the spotlight by winning the Republican congressional primary over Alexander Aldrich last summer. Fish, who had eyed the seat in 1964 (the year Resnick defeated Wharton), withdrew at that time in the interest of party unity. Before successfully defeating Aldrich, he rent party unity asunder himself by accusing "routine big boss steamroller tactics" for his previous defeat at the Ulster County unofficial county convention.

Conservative Candidate
Another candidate slated to appear at the Jaycees "Night" here is Jean Hervey, Conservative Party candidate for Congress. Hervey is stumping the district as no other candidate of his party has ever done; recently challenged Resnick, who holds the seat he wants, to a series of radio debates.

Final speaker of the evening will be Eric Lindbloom of Poughkeepsie, the first Peace candidate in the history of this area. His Independent candidacy, announced last June, became official last week when he submitted a petition to Albany which boasted more than 5,000 names in his support. He has been highly critical of the stands of both Resnick and Fish in relation to the war in Viet Nam.

All four men have been waging strong campaigns for the 28th Congressional District seat which covers Ulster, Dutchess, Greene, Columbia and Schoharie Counties and this year's election should be one of the most interesting, if not the most interesting, ever held in this area. For this reason, their diverse views and natural animosities

Plans Revised For Gemini 12

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — Plans for Gemini 12's lengthy, rocket-powered space walk have undergone a major revision as a result of the fatigue problem that plagued astronaut Richard F. Gordon Jr. outside Gemini 11.

Project officials scrubbed completely a bold Air Force-developed experiment that would have sent Maj. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. etting around the world with a sophisticated rocket pack on his back.

Aldrin's main assignment now will be to investigate some of the basic problems space walkers face, such as body positioning, simple work tasks and the need for restraint equipment. His stroll could last as long as two hours, about the same time originally planned.

The switch came after Navy Lt. Cmdr. Gordon had to shorten his 115-minute space walk to 44 minutes Sept. 13 when he got extremely tired and sweated heavily while tying his space-shed to an Agena rocket.

Gordon warned officials later that until equipment is developed to help a man in weightlessness maintain his body position and still keep both hands free, working outside should be confined to simple tasks.

Officials, admittedly taken by surprise that work outside was so hard, immediately began studying possible changes for Aldrin's stroll. Of chief concern was that donning and doffing the jet pack would be a demanding chore, as experience on Gemini 9 showed.

Planners said Tuesday the Gemini 12 revision was necessary "in order to gather more information concerning the performance of basic tasks by an astronaut outside the spacecraft in orbit."

Gemini 12, a four-day flight to include a rendezvous with an Agena is to begin Oct. 31 with Aldrin and Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. at the controls. However, the change could possibly force a slight delay.

New FFA Winner

WATERLOO, Iowa (AP) — James Salesman, 19, of Argyle, Wis., is the new Future Farmers of America star dairy farmer as the result of his victory over three regional winners.

The regional winners at the national dairy cattle congress contest Monday included Richard Eaton, 19, of Williamson, N.Y., east of Rochester.

THE BENCHLESS VILLAGE GREEN — Last Saturday afternoon, the Woodstock Village Green was totally unoccupied except for an almost empty wastepaper basket and a roll of undelivered out-of-town newspapers. The newly placed "keep off the grass" signs, unartistically painted in white on black, had the town center all to themselves. More than 80 local residents, who evidently feel the removal of benches from the green last summer have something to do with the deserted look of the area this week, petitioned the Town Board to return the seats. It seemed a reasonable request in view of the fact that just about every town everywhere long ago decided benches were a much-needed public commodity. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

11 SHS Students Received Letters Of Commendation

Letters of Commendation honoring their high performance on the 1966 National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (NMQT), have been awarded to 11 students at Saugerties High School, principal George G. Hamaty has announced.

Those named commended students are Dona Beckert, Dean Bryden, David Ellis, Robert Emery, Richard Frisbie, Janice Garrison, Eva Marie Graham, Christine Harder, Linda Reese, Marsha Suenram and Eugene Warfel.

They are among 38,000 students in the United States who scored in the upper two per cent of those who will graduate from high school in 1967. The commended students rank just below the 14,000 semi-finalists announced earlier this month by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

John M. Stalnaker, president of NMSC, said: "The outstanding record made by these students in a national competition deserves public recognition. Their significant academic attainment gives promise of continued success in college."

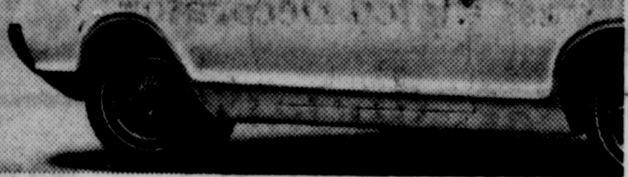

The commended students should be encouraged to pursue their education as their intellectual talent represents an important resource. Our nation will benefit from their continuing educational development."

Only the highest-scoring students in each state, the semi-finalists, remain eligible to be considered for Merit Scholarships. Although students receiving Letters of Commendation advance no further in the Merit Program, their names are reported to other scholarship-granting agencies and to the colleges they named as their first and second choices at the time they took the NMQT. These colleges also receive reports of home addresses, test scores, anticipated college majors and career intentions of the commended students. NMSC encourages these students to make every effort to continue their education.

CAPT. RICHARD FEIN
Former Resident To Be Instructor At Walter Reed

A former resident, Capt. Richard L. Fein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Fein of Saugerties, who last week graduated from a course of instruction at Medical Field Service School, Fort Sam Houston, Tex., will spend the next two years at Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, D. C., as an instructor of Urology.

Capt. Fein, a graduate of Saugerties High School, completed surgical residencies at Los Angeles, Calif., and Veterans Administration Hospital, Bronx. He completed his Urology Specialty at Cumberland Medical Center, Brooklyn.

His parents, who reside on Finger Street Extension here, have received a letter of congratulations from Brig. Gen. Glenn J. Collins, who noted their son's successful completion of his course of instruction in Texas Sept. 19.

Returning east, Capt. and Mrs. Fein and their son, Howard, will reside in Silver Springs, Md., during the two years when he will be serving as instructor at famed Walter Reed Hospital in the nation's capital.

Saugerties Board Holds Elderly Tax Relief Hearing

More than a few Saugerties residents should be vitally interested in the public hearing planned by Saugerties Town Board Thursday at 8 p. m. in Town Hall.

The hearing concerns tax relief for the elderly, and residents are invited to appear and speak on whether a resolution should be adopted locally to give some tax relief to certain persons in the 65 years and over group.

Exactly how many local residents qualify for such tax exemptions under newly approved State law is not known, but quite a few should. Those who would be eligible for tax relief are real property owners in the age group involved, who have an income of $3,000 or less. They would be entitled to a 50 per cent reduction in real property tax, if the Saugerties Town Board ultimately adopts legislation making this possible.

Thursday's hearing must be held, however, before any local ordinance or resolution can be adopted or dropped in the matter. For this reason, all those who will be effected or those who have parents who will be effected should be interested in attending the hearing and speaking out.

2 Teams Sweep In Dartball Loop Opener Monday

Two teams in Saugerties Dartball League opening games Monday night won three-game sweeps while four others won 2 to 1 splits over opponents.

Blanking opponents were Trinity, last year's pennant winner, over Cementon Sportsmen's Club; and Centerville over High Woods Sportsmen.

Winning splits were Quarryville over Saugerties Contractors; West Camp over Southside Men's Club; Golden Eagles over Malden-West Camp Vols, and Centerville Vols over American Legion.

Next Monday: Golden Eagles at High Woods; Trinitymen at Quarryville; Southside Men's Club at Malden-West Camp Vols; Centerville at Cementon Sportsmen's Club; Saugerties Contractors at American Legion, and West Camp at Centerville Vols.

Rocky Given Warm Reception on Campus

ONEONTA, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller pictured himself today as a special friend of the college student as he continued his hunt for votes in the Upstate area.

The Republican governor, seeking a third term against the challenge of Democrat Frank D. O'Connor, put appearances at two State University campuses and speeches in the Albany and Troy area on his campaign agenda.

At Oneonta, the governor's calendar included participation in ceremonies dedicating a half-million dollar health center at the State University College.

He said the center was "one more example" of his administration's commitment to higher education.

The governor said he sought to assure that "every young man and woman in this state who has the ability and the will shall also have the opportunity for a college education."

Succos Festival Starts Tonight for Area Jews

One of the three agricultural festivals mentioned in the Bible and observed by the Children of Israel when they were a nation in the Holy Land was the Feast of Tabernacles, called in Hebrew Succos.

It was the Harvest Festival which was celebrated as a thanksgiving holiday. Pilgrimages were made by the Israelites to the Holy Temple in Jerusalem waving palm branches and myrtle and willow stems, with citrons.

The festival was observed both for its agricultural significance and also as a remembrance of God's protection during the exodus from Egypt when they dwelt in booths on their travels through the desert.

The holiday is observed today with the same symbolism as in ancient times. Huts, or succos, are set up for the first seven days in which the Jewish people partake of the holiday meals.

roofs of these huts must be open and covered only with tree branches so that the light may seep through. Also the palm branch, the myrtle and willow, with the citron, are held during parts of the religious service in the synagogue, while benedictions of thanksgiving are pronounced for the blessings of the harvest season.

The Feast of Tabernacles will begin this evening. The first two days, Thursday and Friday are complete holy days. The next five days are considered as days of intermediate days. They are intermediate between the first two days, and two more days of holy observances that follow on Thursday and Friday, Oct. 6 and 7. The last two days are called Shmini Atzeret and Simchas Torah.

At Congregation Ahavath Israel, 72 Wurts Street, Succos religious services will be held Wednesday and Thursday 6:45 p. m., and Thursday and Friday at 9:30 a. m. Special services for the youth of the congregation will be held in the synagogue beginning at 10 a. m. Children's services will be held in the vestry hall chapel at 10:30 a. m.

A guest cantor, Cantor Morris Raab of New York City, has been invited to chant the liturgy at the holiday services. Everyone may attend to hear the guest cantor.

A succa has been set up outside the synagogue and refreshments will be served by the Sisterhood of the congregation every day after services in the succa, Friday, after services, Rabbi and Mrs. Harry Z. Scheetman will be hosts at a luncheon for members of the congregation and their children in the succa of the congregation, and in the vestry.

Other Local Services

At Congregation Agudas Achim, West Union Street, the festive holiday will be observed Wednesday night, Thursday, Friday and Saturday with evening services at 6 and morning services 8:30.

Special parties for the children will be held in the Succah after services.

Cantor Herman Slomovits and the choir will take part in the services. Dr. H. Z. Rappaport is rabbi.

The schedule of services at Temple Emanuel has been announced by Rabbi Jonathan Eichhorn as follows:

Succos evening service Wednesday 7:45; Succos morning Thursday 10 a. m. and Succos Sabbath Friday 7:45 p. m.

A Succah has been constructed by the Sisterhood, Brotherhood and youth groups of the temple in which holiday Kiddush will be held.

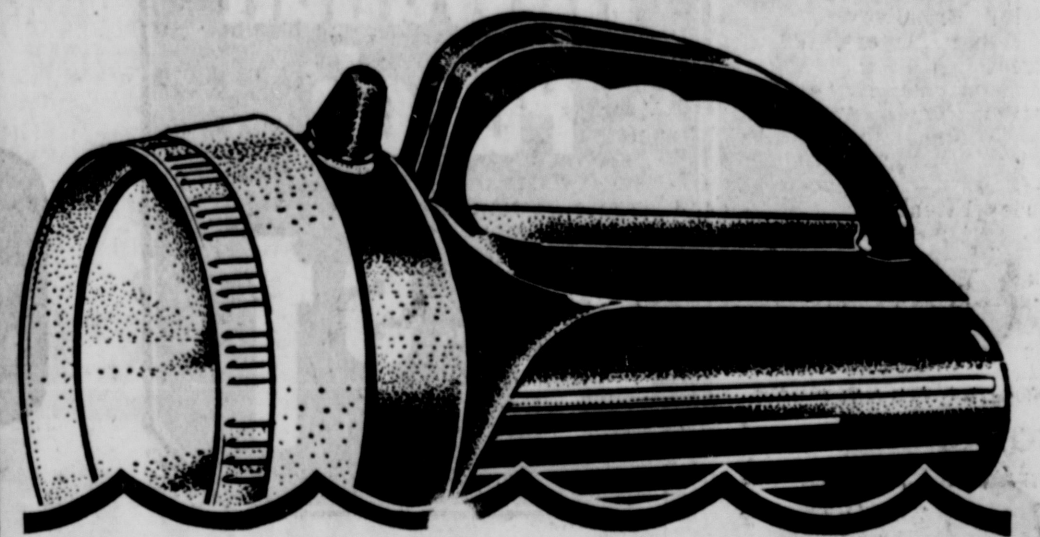

'Birth Tree'

When a new child is born, many European farmers plant a "birth tree" and the welfare of the child is believed to be connected with the tree's growth. In some districts of Switzerland, a pear tree is planted for a girl, an apple tree for a boy.

Our Best Ads Are Not Written...
They Are in Thousands of Homes in and Around Kingston!

We have been writing ads and selling furniture since 1900. The ads are seen for their brief stay in the limelight, but our quality furniture continues to be our best advertisement in the many homes of this vicinity.

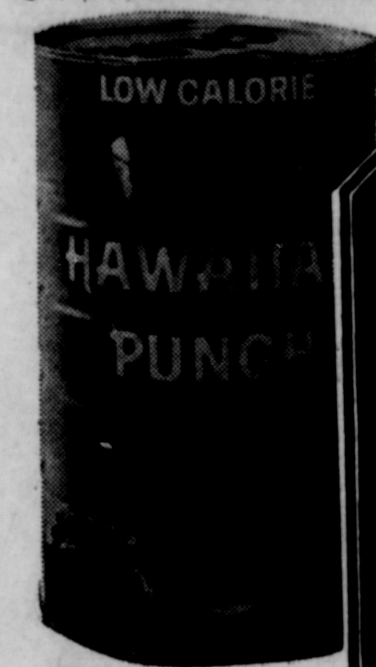

The generations since 1900 have found our furniture and services as much a part of growing up as graduation, marriage and the every day happenings we find making life interesting and enjoyable.

We take pride in our "growing up" with you and we are always just "a little bit prouder" when our quality furniture finds its way into the home of another new customer.

If you are of the newer generation, and have been handed down the "Kaplan buying habit" from generations before, we are glad to welcome you into the "Kaplan family." If you are new to the Kaplan Furniture Company, we would appreciate the opportunity of introducing ourselves and our fine furniture to you.

TV News ABC to Replace Tammy Grimes With Quiz Game

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The season's first casualty — ABC's "Tammy Grimes Show" — was not given even a month in which to build a following.

The network will replace the Thursday night comedy Oct. 6 with an evening edition of its daytime "Dating Game."

The comedy series, produced by William Dozier of "Batman" fame, premiered Sept. 8 and received generally dismal critical notices. The last show will be Thursday night. That is an extremely short run for a prime-time network show. They usually are permitted to stagger along for at least 13 weeks, if only for financial reasons.

NBC gave two game shows almost three months to build audiences before it gave them up. "Chain Letter" with Jan Murray and "Showdown" with Joe Pyne will quietly disappear Oct. 14, and the following Monday will be replaced by "The Pat Boone Show," a musical program with the singing star, and a game show called "Hollywood Squares."

ABC has been enchanted with both "Dating Game" and its sister, "Newlywed Game." The former, in a short time, has turned into a genuine daytime hit. The latter is battling for rating supremacy with CBS' "Password," long at the top of the daytime popularity list along with the perennially popular "As the World Turns," a soap opera.

"CBS Reports" Tuesday night was a grim summary of opinion and emotion which has grown up around the Negro struggle during the summer.

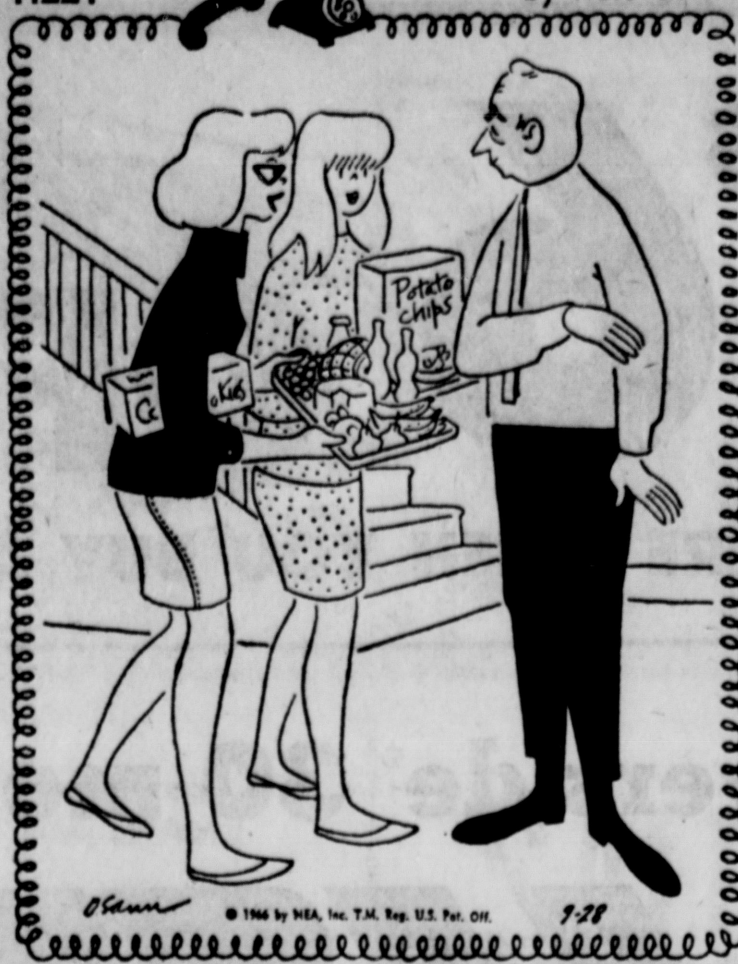

The title — "Black Power" — White Backlash" described the content of the program. Mike Wallace, narrator and frequently interviewer of black and white leaders, called the past months "a summer of revelation for the white man," in showing him how he really felt about the black man. The program was most impressive and frightening when it focused on some bitter Negro leaders talking of violence and rebellion, and on some equally bitter whites.

Kingston Savings Credits $542,362 To Interest Books

A total of $542,362.01 in interest-dividends was credited today to savings accounts and school savings accounts at The Kingston Savings Bank for the third quarter of this year, it was announced today by Lloyd R. LeFever, president. It was the largest dividend distribution in the bank's 92-year history.

Net gain in savings on deposit at the bank to date during the quarter which began July 1 was $1,897,646.49, including the dividend, LeFever said. Kingston Savings Bank's total assets now exceed $33,000,000.

"The deposit gain is particularly significant to the economy of this area," LeFever said, "because most of the money — after setting aside the required reserves to protect depositors' account liquidity — is invested in first mortgage loans on homes in our area."

Today's dividend declaration by the bank's Board of Trustees for the quarter which began July 1 was at the rate of 4.75 per cent a year. Kingston Savings Bank announced on Tuesday that it anticipates an interest-dividend rate of five per cent a year for the three months beginning October 1, if earnings continue favorably. The new anticipated rate is the maximum permitted on regular passbook savings by the federal government.

McCarthy Blocks Unit's Approval Of Katzenbach

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy has temporarily blocked the Senate Foreign Relations Committee's approval of Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach's nomination as undersecretary of state.

The committee approved the nomination Tuesday. But the Minnesota Democrat, a committee member, objected later that a quorum was not present when the action was taken.

Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., committee chairman, said McCarthy also told him he had an important question he wanted to ask Katzenbach. McCarthy's objections will force the committee to recall Katzenbach at another hearing, which was not immediately set.

Later, McCarthy told newsmen he wanted to question Katzenbach about a weekend newspaper column by Howard K. Smith.

He said Smith wrote that McCarthy had gone to St. Louis to make a speech for a fee when his vote was needed on motions to end the civil rights debate. McCarthy said he wanted to ask Katzenbach, who is attorney general was chief administration lobbyist for the bill, whether the Justice Department gave Smith that information.

McCarthy said he had postponed the St. Louis speech. He was present in the Senate and voted for both cloture motions.

Before McCarthy raised his objections, Katzenbach had been but a step away from prompt confirmation for the State Department's No. 2 post as successor to George W. Ball, who has resigned.

Katzenbach testified before Fulbright's committee Tuesday and his nomination was expected to be brought to the Senate floor without delay.

He told the committee he fully supported U.S. foreign policy. And he expressed high admiration for Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Senate leaders have predicted Katzenbach will be confirmed by a wide margin.

Real Estate Unit Plans Conference In New York City

Authorities on real estate, economics, urban renewal, condominiums and data processing will address delegates to the Eastern Regional Appraisal conference of the Society of Real Estate Appraisers in New York on October 26-28.

The meeting at the Americana hotel is expected to attract 300 real estate delegates from a 10-state area from Maine to Virginia, and eastern Canada.

The Society's Greater New York chapter is conference host. Conference chairman is Joseph Malzo, vice-president and mortgage loan officer, Union Labor Life Insurance Company, New York City.

William R. Gibson Jr., president of the Society's Greater New York chapter, an independent appraiser of Rockville Centre, L. I., will welcome delegates. James V. Morgan, executive vice-president of the International Society, will report to delegates at the opening session Oct. 27.

Conference activities include a program about administration for Society chapter officers Oct. 26; an evening president's reception on that date; a millinery fashion show for delegates' wives in the hotel Oct. 28; and continental breakfasts Oct. 27 and 28. The three-day conference will end after a luncheon Friday, Oct. 28.

Over 200 Nazarenes Attend Local District Conference

The 59th annual assembly of the New York District of the Church of the Nazarene closed this weekend in the Kingston church concluding one of the greatest sessions ever held in this district. The Rev. Thomas Younce and the Kingston Church of the Nazarene were the host pastor and church. Entertainment was arranged for 200 delegates and pastors.

All business was under the direction of Dr. G. B. Williamson, general superintendent of the Church from Kansas City, Mo.

The Rev. J. H. White, district superintendent of the New York District, reported that during the year over 200 acres of land and buildings had been purchased for $135,000 at Milan near Red Hook, from the New York Herald Tribune, which they had used for a Day Camp and now will be used for the new district center of the Church of the Nazarene. The former district center was located at Beacon. The center will be used for all the children's and youth activities and camps as well as for the annual district camp meeting.

In Sunday school work 4,954 were enrolled in the New York district which is striving for an enrollment of a million in Sunday schools throughout the denomination in these next two years.

Twenty-four churches raised 10 per cent or more of their total budget for the cause of world missions. The total giving for all purposes was nearly one-half million dollars.

Expansion Noted
Fifty per cent of the churches of the district were engaged in an expansion program, new churches being built, parsonages constructed, or land acquired for

AT NAZARINE ASSEMBLY—Some 200 delegates were in attendance for the 59th annual assembly of the New York District, Nazarene Church, held over the weekend at the local church, Elmendorf Street and Wiltwyck Avenue. On hand to welcome the out of town delegates and give major addresses were (l-r) the Rev. J. H. White, district superintendent; Dr. G. B. Williamson, general superintendent of the denomination; Kingston Mayor Raymond W. Gartagan and the Rev. Patrick R. Vostello, vice president of the Hudson Valley Evangelical Ministerial Association. the expansion of the present facilities.

Two new churches were organized this year at Warwick Valley and in the Bronx. The goal for the new year is four new churches.

In the closing sessions two ministers were ordained: Hubert D. Brathwaite of Brooklyn and David R. Trauffer of Brentwood, Long Island. Two deaconesses were consecrated. Mrs. Carman Browne and Mrs. Priscilla Thorpe, both of Brooklyn.

Dr. Edward S. Mann reported as president of Eastern Nazarene College at Quincy, Mass., which is a part of this educational zone in the denomination. The new Eduward S. Mann student union building has just been completed and named in honor of Dr. Mann, who has been the president of the college for the past 18 years.

Opposed to Lottery

record that the New York district was opposed to the Lottery Issue in the State of New York. Dr. Williamson speaking of the modern trend toward the New Morality and Lottery Issues, said, "There is no new morality, the standard of morality was clearly stated in the Ten Commandments and the Sermon on the Mount. It is actually the New Immorality. There is only one hope for our modern civilization and that is the dynamic of Pentecost, which started Christianity on the road to transform all peoples of all lands."

He also referred to the ecumenical movement when he said, "the church recognizes its loss of power and influence and is striving to save itself rather than trying to save a lost world. The loss of the dynamic of Pentecost has left the church struggling and weak."

She said she'll offer to pay $800 in one lump and $100 a month until the bill is paid.

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Sept. 28, the 271st day of 1966. There are 94 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history.

On this date in 1924, two Army Air Service planes landed in Seattle, completing the first around-the-world flight. The two planes had started out from Seattle April 6.

On this date:

In 1850, Congress voted to give extra pay to Army officers serving in the far countries of Oregon and California.

In 1878, the first Chinese resident ambassador to the United States was received in Washington.

In 1958, France voted for the constitution of Premier Charles de Gaulle and established the Fifth Republic of France.

Ten years ago—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and French Premier Guy Mollet said they had reached final agreement on a treaty under which France would return the Saar territory to Germany.

Five years ago—A revolt led by Syrian army officers against Egyptian domination of the Syrian region of the United Arab Republic began in Damascus.

One year ago—Ten major nations announced an agreement on an initial step toward a world conference on the possible revision of the international monetary system.

Dutchess Hospital Will Participate In U.S. Program

The medical staff and Board of Directors of the Northern Dutchess Health Center, Rhinebeck, have voted to participate in a new medical program initiated by the federal government to concentrate the fight against the killer diseases: heart disease, cancer and stroke.

Based on a totally new concept of cooperation and communication between medical centers and local hospitals, techniques and treatment, formerly available only in complex sophisticated centers, may soon be found in the small, community hospital. This will be accomplished through the further education and training of nurses, hospital technicians and physicians.

This new step in the treatment of the killer diseases, known as the Regional Medical Program (RMP), was a direct result of recommendations submitted to Congress in December, 1964 by the Presidential Commission on Heart Disease, Cancer and Stroke, headed by Dr. Michael E. DeBakey.

The commission was formed by President Lyndon B. Johnson to recommend steps to reduce the incidence of these diseases through new knowledge and more complete utilization of the medical knowledge we already have.

The final bill passed by Congress in 1965 placed the program under the direction of the National Institute of Health. For purposes of organization the country has been divided into designated regions, utilizing existing institutions and personnel. Hospitals located within a specific region participate in the program strictly on a voluntary basis.

To Work Out of Albany
Northern Dutchess Health Center chose to participate in the Albany Regional Medical Program because, according to Michael C. Mazzarella, administrator, "we feel that our hospital and community will derive many increased benefits from such a program. Having this avenue of communication with Albany Medical College will greatly enhance the potential resources available to us."

"The Albany program is the first one to be approved by the National Institute of Health for New York State and one of only five approved to date in the nation," Mazzarella explained.

"We feel very fortunate to be in on the ground floor of such an ambitious project," he said.

Farbstein Wins By 929 Votes

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. Leonard Farbstein, who keyed his campaign on support for President Johnson's Viet Nam policy, has scored a narrow victory over a vigorous administration critic in a special Democratic primary.

The margin in Tuesday's 19th Congressional District rerun primary was only 929 votes out of more than 33,000 cast. Farbstein, 63, a five-term congressman who has made a specialty in recent years of winning by close elections, polled 17,080 votes in the unofficial tally.

Rondout National Interest Rate Is Now at 5 Per Cent

Rondout National Bank today announced that it will issue Savings Certificates with a six month maturity paying 5 per cent interest per annum compounded monthly.

As of this date, this is the highest rate offered to savers in the Hudson Valley. This high rate of 5 per cent compounded monthly is a guaranteed rate for six months and is not an anticipated rate. These certificates may be renewed at maturity or may be redeemed prior to maturity by giving the bank a 90-day notice.

The Board of Directors of The Rondout National Bank feel that this should induce savers of the area to keep their money on deposit in the City of Kingston rather than to send their money to various parts of the country to obtain this high rate of interest.

Increased deposits in local banks will enable them to have more money to lend to local business and to stimulate home building.

Cigarettes Will Not Offend If Smokers Follow Rules

Smokers are certainly more apt to irritate non-smokers than vice versa. The following quiz will indicate whether you are a welcome companion in either camp.

1. You may smoke when entering or leaving the theater. True — False —
2. No smoking signs do not apply to pipes. True — False —
3. Smokers should insist on paying for damage done a hostess' furniture by cigarettes. True — False —
4. Cigar smokers should ask their hostess's permission before lighting their cigars. True — False —
5. Even though a hostess does not smoke, she should provide ash trays for guests. True — False —

6. If there are no ash trays about, a plant or other ornament may be used for cigarettes. True — False —

7. At a dinner party, you may use the edge of your plate if ash trays are not found at the table. True — False —

8. Women should wait for men to light cigarettes. True — False —

9. When you're with a group, you need only offer a cigarette to two or three people nearest you. True — False —

10. Women may now smoke on city streets. True — False —

No one can complain of your smoking habits if you get all the answers right. Here they are:

1. False. You may not smoke in theaters except in the outer lobby, or if there are signs to say so, in the lounge.

2. False. Pipe smokers must follow the same rules as cigarette smokers.

3. True.

4. True. Cigar smoke is very offensive to many women.

5. True. Otherwise she will have damaged furniture and unhappy guests.

6. False. If there are no ash trays provided you have two choices: refrain from smoking, or ask for one.

7. False. The hostess has clearly indicated she does not wish her guests to smoke at the table.

8. False. Unless a nearby man pulls out his lighter quickly, a woman lights her own cigarette.

9. True.

10. False. It is still not in good taste for a woman to walk in the city smoking a cigarette.

Griffin Addresses Meeting Of Demo. Women's Division

Mrs. Clyde Griffin, campaign manager for Mrs. Louise Pfuete, Democratic candidate for delegate to the 1967 New York Constitutional Convention from the 38th Senatorial District, has released a partial schedule of campaign dates.

On Tuesday, Sept. 20, Mrs. Pfuete spoke at a meeting of the Ulster County Democratic Women's Division at the home of Mrs. Harriet Kerr, New Paltz, for the purpose of planning for the current election campaign. At that time Mrs. Pfuete pointed out that she was particularly pleased to work with the Women's Division because she believes that the Constitutional Convention must include some able women in order that it truly represent the people of New York State. She said that, "Women constitute more than 50 per cent of the eligible voters of New York State. At the 1938 Constitutional Convention there were only six women out of a total of 186 delegates. Surely now, in 1966, women deserve a greater opportunity to carry their share of responsibility in a democracy."

Mrs. Pfuete further emphasized the grave importance of the Constitutional Convention which will profoundly affect the people of New York State for years to come and will determine the kind of state New York will be. Mrs. Pfuete also told the meeting that there were very few women running for office in New York State in the current election.

Mendelssohn Club Re-elects Edward Sprute

The Mendelssohn Club, now entering its 64th season, announced that Edward L. Sprute recently, Clifton Terrace, Kingston, has been reelected club president for the 1965-66 season. The club also elected its official group for the season and appointed its working committees.

Sprute, a native of Brooklyn, came to the Kingston area in 1940 with the American Telephone Company after company assignments in New York City, New Jersey and Monticello in Sullivan County. Since that time he served the company at Elizabethtown, but has been locally active in telephone company and choral activities in the Kingston and Ulster County areas for more than 13 years.

Sprute has been a member of the Onteora Summer Chorus and served as its president in 1961, has been a member of the Lyric Choristers for several years and served as club president for its 1961-62 season. He has worked actively as a singing member of the Mendelssohn Club, in its reorganization and program development, and has previously served as its president for the 1964-65 and 1965-66 seasons.

Now stationed with the American Telephone Company's Rosendale No. 2 facilities, Sprute is past president of the Telephone Pioneers, is a group leader chairman of the group and is co-chairman of its entertainment and publicity committee. He has taken part in Pioneers community projects, notably serving as key Telephone Committee captain for the Ulster County TB and Health Association's city wide "Respiratory Disease Survey and Breathing Test" conducted last fall for the State Health Department and the Community Chest Fund Program.

"This opportunity to continue my service to the Mendelssohn Club as its president has great meaning to me personally," Sprute states. "In these past several years, I have shared with our key officers and members constant effort to build upon the rich musical history and tradition of our more-than-60-year old Club and to produce a modern Mendelssohn organization that reflects objectively and warmly the musical intellect and interest of our community today."

Sprute noted that "we are all working with a deep sense of dedication to a high level of musical leadership in our community, a serious responsibility in which our Mendelssohn Male Chorus must share, and to which we will continue to contribute to the full extent of our resources."

The president further noted that the Mendelssohn Club is scheduling several concerts at area churches in its 1966 Fall-Winter season and a special public concert at the Kingston Savings Bank in December. Persons interested in singing membership are urged to contact Membership Chairman Charles Selzo or Richard Uhler. Those interested in joining the Club's Associate Membership in support of the musical program are urged to contact John Breithaupt, Rolling Meadows. Current members come from all areas of Ulster County and from Dutchess County.

"We are well on our way in the development of an outstanding choral season," Sprute concluded, "and invite and urge all persons interested in building a top flight male choral program to join us now."

Other Club officers elected to serve with Sprute include Richard H. Uhler, vice president; Otto Havlin, secretary and Edward J. Heaney, treasurer. Librarians are Charles and Gus W. Tailleu, Frank Elmendorf, architect; E. Robert Johnson, publicist; and Charles Tailleu and Richard H. Uhler are club governors.

Civil Rights Leader Scheduled to Speak To Dutchess College Faculty, Students

James Meredith, civil rights leader, will speak to faculty and students at Dutchess Community College this Thursday afternoon in an appearance sponsored by the College's Lyceum Series. His topic will be "Racial Peace in America."

Mr. Meredith became nationally prominent in 1962, when he was the first enrolled Negro student at the University of Mississippi. After receiving his degree, he studied at the University of Ibadan, Nigeria and lectured at major universities in Africa. He is presently a student at the Columbia University law school.

Often at variance with Negro groups, Mr. Meredith believes that the racial problem is two-sided and involves the role of both the Negroes and whites. Solutions, he believes, will come through the improvement of both groups' actions and attitudes.

Lord - Hanley Jr. Wedding Announced

Miss Mary Margaret Lord of Rochester, N. Y., wed Robert V. Hanley Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert V. Hanley Sr., of 244 Bowne Street, Port Ewen, N.Y., on September 17, 1966 in St. Joseph's Church, Rochester. Officiating clergyman and celebrant of the Mass was the Rev. Leon Dunn, CSsR.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mrs. Priscilla Lord of Caro, Mich., and Robert Lord of Milwaukee, Wisc., wore an alencon and silk organza gown and a tulle veil held by a white bow. She carried white stephanotis and ivy.

Attending the bride were Miss Carol English of Rochester as maid of honor, Miss Kathie Sacco of Rochester, bridesmaid, and Donna Halm, cousin of the bride, as flower girl. Miss English wore an emerald green empire styled gown with matching bow headpiece and she carried stephanotis trimmed with gold ribbon. Miss Sacco wore a gold gown, matching bow headpiece, and carried white stephanotis trimmed with emerald green ribbon. The flower girl was attired in gold and carried a basket of Fuji mums.

Philip Morse of Athens, Pa., was best man for the bridegroom. Larry Catello of Canandaigua, N. Y. was usher and Robert Halm, cousin of the bride, served as ring bearer.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Patrick Moore. She was graduated from Benjamin Franklin High School, Rochester, and is a secretary for Lozier Engineers. Her husband, an alumnus of Kingston High School, is employed by the Rochester Telephone Company, and will continue studies at the Rochester Institute of Technology.

After a wedding trip through central New York State and the Catskills, Mr. and Mrs. Hanley will reside in Rochester, N. Y.

Rotary Club Will Have Group Study Exchange Program

The Rotary Clubs of Ulster County will participate with all of the clubs in District 721 of Rotary International in a Group Study Exchange with a Rotary district in Queensland, Australia.

Group Study Exchange, an educational activity of the Rotary Foundation, offers a unique person-to-person opportunity for the promotion of better understanding and friendly relations among the peoples of the world. The program provides travel grants for the exchange of teams of young business and professional men between different countries, enabling them to study the institutions and ways of life of their hosts and to develop personal acquaintances and exchange ideas. The young men of District 721 will bring personal knowledge of their own country to the thousands they meet while abroad. And from their study of another country—their observations of its customs, their explorations into its business and professional life, their meetings and discussions with its people—will come many opportunities for the development of understanding and lasting friendships.

Reciprocity is a key to the Group Study Exchange program. District 721 will select a team of six outstanding young men between the ages of 22 and 30 who represent a cross-section of businesses and professions in the district, and send them to Australia for a two-month study tour. During the study tour the team will be accompanied by Vance Gage, a teacher at the Anderson School and a Hyde Park Rotarian. Over a two-year period each of the paired districts must both send and receive a team. Thus, District 721 which will send a team this year will host a team from Australia next year.

An outstanding virtue of the program is its potential involvement of all Rotarians on every level plus a virtually unlimited number of non-Rotarians.

William Nichol of Hyde Park will head the district wide committee which will handle all the arrangements. Robert Diamond has been appointed from the Rotary Club of Kingston. Interested applicants should contact any member of the local club.

UCCC Planning Parent Night Here

A Freshman Parent College Night is being planned Friday, Sept. 30, at Ulster County Community College by the Dean of Students Office.

It will be conducted at 8 o'clock in Room 34 at the college's temporary campus, 214 West Chestnut Street, Kingston.

The purpose of the program is to acquaint the parents with college life and to point out the problems frequently encountered by beginning college students. In addition, the parents will have an opportunity to learn what is essential for a successful college experience.

"We feel that this program will be quite informative," Dean of Students Donald Crow said, "and will assist parents in understanding their sons and daughters as they adjust to this new educational experience at Ulster County Community College."

The parents will be welcomed by Dr. Dale B. Lake, college president. There will be a color slide presentation, an explanation of Student Personnel Services, and a question-and-answer period.

After the program, there will be an informal coffee hour in the college cafeteria. There parents will have an opportunity to meet Dr. Lake, divisional chairmen and other members of the college staff.

Parents of all freshmen students at the college are invited to attend the College Night program.

MRS. PATRICK JORDAN

Coffey-Jordan Wedding Is Announced Here

Miss Joan S. Coffey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Coffey of 23 Coffey Place, this city, exchanged marriage vows with Patrick D. Jordan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Jordan of 316 Hasbrouck Avenue, also this city. The wedding ceremony took place in St. Joseph's Church, Kingston, and the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John J. O'Reilly, pastor, was also celebrant of the nuptial Mass. James Sweeney was organist and Donald Sweeney was the soloist.

White gladioli and bronze pompons decorated the church for the occasion. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of bridal taffeta. The bell skirt was accented with a detachable chapel length train. Her veil of bouffant English silk illusion was triple tiered and shirred to a stylized headpiece rose set with lace and seed pearls. She carried a cascade of snowdrift pompons.

Miss Susan H. Bradley of Wappingers Falls, N. Y., served as maid of honor in a two-toned moss green and eggshell floor length empire gown with matching dior bow headpiece and fly away veil. She carried a crescent bouquet of light bronze pompons, ivy and matching bronze bow.

The Misses Karen R. Coffey and Patricia A. Coffey, sisters of the bride, served as bridesmaids. They wore two-toned gold and yellow gowns identical in style to that worn by the honor attendant. Their headpieces were in matching gold and they carried crescent bouquets of moss green pompons with ivy and matching moss green bows.

Catherine M. Smith, cousin and Goldchild of the bride, was the flower girl in a floor length moss green and eggshell gown. She wore a matching bow headpiece and carried a princess basket of light bronze and moss green pompons, ivy and matching ribbon.

Henry J. Jordan of 316 Hasbrouck Avenue, this city, was best man for his brother. Ushers were Guy Selegman of Valentine Members, prospective members and guest representatives of the club's sponsors for Kingston Welcome Wagon Club commenced their fourth year with a covered dish supper. Hostess for the evening was Mrs. Richard Rydstrom.

Guest speaker for the evening was Peter Allen, executive director of Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce. He gave the club an idea of what the functions and activities of the Chamber are. This was followed by a question and answer period.

The installation ceremonies were conducted by Mrs. C. A. Selzo, area hostess and Mrs. R. A. Uhler, assistant hostess.

Those who will guide the club this year are: president, Mrs. Richard Van Dune; vice-presidents, Mrs. Dennis McLane and Mrs. Rydstrom; secretary, Mrs. John McMichael; treasurer, Mrs. Charles Slate. Committee chairmen are: Mrs. Robert Mohr, membership; Mrs. Patrick Bottino, ways and means; Mrs. Raymond Hubbard, publicity; Mrs. Walter Gustafson, interest groups; and Mrs. George Yhlen, service.

Mrs. Walter Houle, outgoing president, welcomed the new president. A brief review of the club's activities and interest groups was presented. The club will sponsor a bake sale Oct. 12 from 11 a. m. to 3 p. m. in Britts Community Room. A mitten and glove tree is planned for the boys' home for Christmas. Gourd were sold at the meeting to benefit this project.

Sponsors attending the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lownd, Edward DeGroff and Richard Allward.

The next meeting will be held Oct. 18 at 8 p. m. at the YWCA. The program will be on fall gardening.

Magic Number Is '3'

LA Moves Step Closer to Flag

Drysdale Blanks Cardinals, 4-0

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

"Things are a little bit better than they were this morning," Manager Walter Alston said Monday night after his Los Angeles Dodgers increased their National League lead to 2½ games with six left.

"Well, we're a half game better than we were yesterday," Alston said Tuesday night after a 2-0 victory over St. Louis increased the Dodgers' lead to three games with five to go.

"I'd say we're in slightly better shape than we were before the game," one might expect Alston to say tonight if the Dodgers increase their lead to 4½ games with four to go.

Chances are Alston would be more positive than he usually is if the Dodgers clinch their second straight pennant tonight.

The Dodgers' triumph Tuesday night reduced their magic number to three, meaning any combination of Los Angeles victories and Pittsburgh losses totaling three would give the Dodgers the pennant.

The second-place Pirates, who were rained out Tuesday night, play Philadelphia twice tonight, and the Dodgers play the Cardinals once.

In the only other NL game, San Francisco defeated Atlanta 6-3. Rain also washed out Houston at Cincinnati and Chicago at New York.

In the American League, California stopped Detroit 6-2, Minnesota downed Cleveland 5-1, and Boston ended its season by nipping Chicago 2-1 after losing 1-0, Kansas City at Baltimore and New York at Washington lost to the rain.

Don Drysdale was the Dodgers' latest hero as he shut out St. Louis on four hits for his fourth straight victory and 13th against 16 defeats.

Fairly Belts Homer

Ron Fairly gave the big right-handed only run he needed with a second-inning homer, but the Dodgers added one in the sixth on a double by Jim LeFebvre and Lou Johnson's single.

Willie Mays drove in four runs with his 36th homer and a single, keeping the Giants mathematically alive. They're in third place, four games out. Mays' slugging offset Hank Aaron's 43rd homer, a three-run blow in the fourth inning. Lindy McDaniel allowed the Braves just one hit in six innings of relief.

Minnesota moved to within one-half game of the second-place Tigers behind Jim Perry's three-hit pitching. Harmon Killebrew hit his 37th homer for the Twins while Zoilo Versalles drove in two runs with a double.

Ken Berry singled home Tommie Agee with the only run of the game for Chicago's opening-game victory over Boston. Berry's hit was only the fifth off Lee Stange.

But the Red Sox, who ended their season unusually early, came back in the second contest as Tony Conigliaro tripled home one run, scored the other when Don Buford fumbled George Scott's grounder.

Seeks 2nd Win Over Defending Met Champions

New Rochelle's talented Purples, defending Metropolitan schoolboy football champions, entertain Kingston High Saturday in a 2 p. m. game at McKenna Field in the Westchester County city.

Coach Lou Amoson's 66-man squad opened its season with a convincing, 25-6, win over Stepienac of White Plains, one of the top three schools in the Catholic High Football League.

In producing Amoson's 98th victory at New Rochelle, the Purples scored on two brilliant runs of 19 and 45 yards by speedy halfback Lionel Oliver, on a recovered fumble in the end zone and on a 62 yard scoring bomb from quarterback Mario Scarnie to end Leroy Summer.

Football has been a festival of success under Amoson at New Rochelle. Since taking over the reins in 1949, his clubs have won 98, lost 28 and tied four. In the last 10 seasons, the Purples have accounted for 61 wins, 10 losses and three ties. The only losing season was in 1952, when New Rochelle won three, lost four and tied one.

Sixth Meeting

This will mark the sixth meeting between Kingston and their Westchester opponents. The only KHS victory was a 38-19 rout in 1958, when Noble Armstrong, Gerry McDonough and a mummy ran over everything in sight.

Last season, New Rochelle dumped the locals, 19-0, in one of their toughest tests of a 7-1 season. The only setback was a 14-7 game to White Plains.

In sizing up his squad, Amoson said there are youngsters in most positions, but with 66 boys, there is much depth. "We're inexperienced and we'll make mistakes, but we've got good balance and good depth," he said.

The home side will attack from its patented multiple offense — straight T, flanker T, double flankers, shotgun and the like. Amoson likes to work from an unbalanced line. His is a system predicated on power, mass blocking, swift backs and a quarterback who can throw the ball.

Passing Quarterback

Scarnie is the field general. The senior saw some action last year and is a good passer. Fullback Jim Smith and halfbacks Oliver and Phil Kelly round out an all-senior backfield. The latter pair furnish outside speed.

There are 29 halfbacks and fullbacks on the roster and Amoson is hopeful a few will gain status in the opening weeks.

On defense, the Purples have three solid veterans in Charley Yizar, Paul Payne and Charley Moore. Larry Brown is a place-kicking specialist and Scarnie is the punter.

Amoson scouted Kingston in its opening, 18-0, win Friday, against Albany and he must be wary of the Maroon players after their impressive debut.

On defense, coach Bill Hurley's squad was superb. The pass pursuit couldn't have been better.

On offense, captain Gerard Boggs was a standout at fullback and halfback Bill Dugan managed to get away for one long run.

The passing game didn't click but quarterback Pete Watzka did show signs that he is capable of doing the job.

This figures to be a key game for the KHS players. If they can come home with either a victory or give the Purples a good contest, it can make the rest of their season.

Penn State to Give Army Biggest Test

Melifluous Mel Allen used to describe Yankee Stadium as the most beautiful park in baseball and you know what happened to him. He got axed.

Now the Bronx guillotine has descended on the neck of Red Barber, the Old Redhead, giving the Yankee front office the ignominious distinction of sacking the two greatest announcers in baseball history within a year.

Allen and Barber had several things in common but widely contrasting styles in the broadcast booth. It was a matter of taste and you took your pick. Both were southern born and super salesmen. They could sell a product and a ball club and they did both with astounding success. Highly articulate each could turn a phrase that lingered long after the ball game.

A Dramatic Salesman:

Allen possessed the most dramatic voice on the baseball airwaves. His "going, going... gone" routine in describing a home run was sheer artistry. He made "how about that!" a national household phrase, comparable to such ancient sayings as "you don't say" and "Is that so?" He coined the Ballantine blast and it sold a lot of beer for the sponsor. We have no statistics to back us up but we venture to say the sales have dropped since Mel was booted out. He could coin a nickname, too, and Yankee Clipper for Phil Dimaggio and Old Reliable for Tommy Henrich, and The Scooter for Phil Rizzuto are just a few.

No baseball broadcaster ever commanded greater grasp and knowledge of the game's strategy and finer points than Red Barber. He used the professional approach and played it in a low key.

Barber made the Brooklyn Dodgers a baseball institution with his colorful language, liberally sprinkled with southern homilies. He made "rubbard" meaning a ruckus, a national byword and such other delicate morsels as "in the catbird seat" and "eatin' high on the hog" were strictly from Dixie.

A Lost Art:

The Old Redhead's re-creation of teletype accounts of Dodger-Cardinal games were radio classics of another era. Nobody ever came close to Barber in that department. If the clackety-clack of the teletype machine were not audible in the background, it would have been difficult to distinguish the re-creation from the real thing.

Allen's intense loyalty to the Yankees irritated the Yankee non-lovers far more than Barber's equally fervent devotion to the Dodgers. It was simply a matter of style. The old rap against Allen was that you could always tell by the tone of Mel's voice how the Yankees were doing at that particular moment.

Allen always bridled at any suggestion that his broadcasts were slanted. "I have the right to root for the Yankees, but that doesn't mean I am unfair in my reporting," he used to say.

Humor Men Take Over:

Yankee Stadium, by modern standards, is ancient and decrepit. And the departure of first Allen, then Barber, leaves a void in the Bronx that will not be easily filled. The trend in broadcasting in New York now seems to be toward the humorous. Judging by what happened on the hallowed sod of the stadium during the 1966 season there might be some justification for it.

Barber was broadcaster for the old Brooklyn Dodgers for 15 years and spent 13 years with the Yankees. Allen was a Yankee fixture for almost three decades. They were the giants of their time and they will be missed. But progress is progress and it's time to bring on the good humor men.

Game Is Sellout At West Point

WEST POINT—As the only undefeated major independent team in the East, Army faces its biggest challenge of the infant season when it meets Penn State Saturday at 2 p. m. at Michie Stadium.

A sellout crowd will be on hand for this one. The Pittsburgh game on Oct. 22 is also sold out. Army grid followers can see their favorites in action at home on Nov. 5 against George Washington.

It will be homecoming at the Military Academy as hundreds of graduates return for a week-end which is rivaled only by the annual June Week at West Point.

Two new coaches will be meeting in this contest, Tom Cahill having taken over at Army while Joe Paterno is at Penn State. Cahill moved to the top after seven years as Plebe coach for the Cadets. Paterno was an assistant to Rip Engle for 16 years.

Prediction Comes True

"We will attack on offense and we will assault on defense." These were the pre-season words of Army coach Cahill. In their victories to date over Kansas State, 21-6 and Holy Cross, 14-0, the Cadets have been doing just what Cahill said.

The offense has rolled up 642 yards with a balance between rushing (338) and passing (304). The big ground gainers have

Goslin Hit First

Homer Off Feller

NEW YORK (AP) — Quick now. Who hit the first homer ever off Bob Feller?

Here's a hint. The batter's last name starts with a G and the year was 1936, Feller's first season in the major leagues.

Give up? The answer is Goose Goslin, who won the 1935 World Series for the Detroit Tigers with his historic hit that drove in the winning run in the sixth and final game against the Chicago Cubs.

Goslin, a fit-looking 65-year-old who played 19 seasons in the majors from 1921 through 1938, told about it Tuesday night at a party to help publicize "The Glory of Their Times," Lawrence Sanders' book of reminiscences of 22 baseball oldtimers.

Feller, hailed as one of the game's greatest pitchers when he came up as a 17-year-old rookie, was noted for his blazing fast ball.

"I remember it well," Goslin said. "Everyone was talking about his fast ball at the time. And, if you remember, there was nothing I liked better than to hit fast balls."

"Well, the first time I faced Feller he gave me a fast ball on the very first pitch. I hit it into the second deck in right field."

Goose, whose name is Leon Allen Goslin, is far better known, however, for his ninth-inning single in the sixth game of the 1935 World Series that beat the Cubs 4-3 and brought Detroit its first World Series championship.

Goose, who lives in Salem, N.J., played with the Washington Senators, the old St. Louis Browns and Detroit in his 2,287-game major league career. He played in three World Series with Washington in 1924-1925 and 1933 before the 1935 Series with Detroit.

Does Saratoga lose its charm in Autumn?

Not by a long shot.

Autumn's the best time of year for Saratoga. The scenery's more beautiful than ever. The roads are clean and fast, and so's the track. Best of all, it's the perfect time to relax after a hectic summer.

We're just picking up steam on our exciting Fall season. Why not come tonight?

Willie Concedes Dodgers Have It

ATLANTA (AP) — Willie Mays isn't going down without a fight, but the San Francisco center fielder says the Los Angeles Dodgers have about clinched the National League pennant.

"I think the Dodgers have about got it wrapped up," Mays said after driving in four runs in the Giants' 6-3 victory over Atlanta Tuesday night which kept San Francisco's fleeting pennant hopes alive.

"The Dodgers have only five games left and they are three in front of the Pirates, which makes it pretty tough to beat them," said Mays, who tied a handful of records with his 36th home run of the year which drove in three runs.

The blast and a run-scoring single in the seventh boosted Mays' career runs batted in total to 1,503, making him the 14th big leaguer to pass the 1,500 mark.

Mays' RBI total for the year climbed to 101, giving him a tie for the National League mark of driving in at least 100 runs eight straight years, and a tie for the league mark of driving in 100 runs 10 times in his career.

His hitting kept the Giants four games behind the Dodgers, and pulled them within one game of the second-place Pirates.

Orange Expects Passing Attack

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—The Syracuse football squad, whose opponents have scored a total of 66 points against it in two games, "can't afford to continue being beaten by the long bomb."

Coach Ben Schwartzwalder gave that view Tuesday as he prepared to face another strong passing attack Saturday from the visiting University of Maryland.

At the same time, Schwartzwalder juggled defensive positions among the Orangemen, whose have lost to Baylor, 35-12, and to UCLA, 31-12.

Quits Coaching

Promote Joe Gaspard At Newburgh Academy

By ED PALLADINO

Freeman Sports Staff
Joe Gaspard, who guided Newburgh Free Academy to four DUSO basketball titles in seven seasons, has been named Administrative Assistant to high school principal Dr. Leslie Tourville and has resigned his coaching job.

The move, predicted by this observer at the close of the 1965-66 basketball season, was made at last night's meeting of the Newburgh School Board of Education.

No action has been taken in naming Gaspard's successor but it's believed that Mickey Burkoski, the high school jayvee coach, will be promoted to varsity cage coach and that Jim McMillen, former NFA cager and later a star at Orange County Community College, will be the jayvee coach.

Gaspard came to Newburgh as jayvee coach and succeeded George (Lanky) Masterson as varsity head when the latter was forced to resign because of health reasons.

Under Gaspard, the Goldies won circuit championships in 1961-62, 1962-63, 1964-65 and 1965-66. The Hilly City quintet also captured three sectional titles, losing last year to Kingston in the championship game.

Prior to his coaching success in Newburgh, Gaspard also handled varsity basketball teams at Chester and Arden.

Burkoski is one of the top cagers ever to play for NFA. He captained the Manhattan College team in his senior year and then returned to his former high school as jayvee coach. He is also jayvee baseball coach at Newburgh.

Rehire Rigney
ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP)—"It's the best contract I have ever had," said Bill Rigney, who will return in 1967 for his seventh season as manager of the California Angels.

Rigney, 48, the senior manager in the American League, confirmed Tuesday that he could have had the Detroit managerial post if he had wanted to make the move.

Sedita Pledges Full Time Aides

FRANK A. SEDITA

this campaign is over. I will bring my program to the people."

First Vacation Since '58

It was noted that Sedita's extensive campaigning might give the people of Buffalo the idea that he was neglecting his duties as mayor. "Quite the contrary," Sedita said. "This is the first vacation I've had since I was elected Mayor of Buffalo in 1958. Since then I've put in an eight hour day, usually six days a week. I don't think my fellow Buffalonians would mind my campaigning for this high state office for a few months. Besides, I'm in constant contact with my office in Buffalo."

FDR Jr. Hopes He'll Poll 2 Million, Win

NEW YORK (AP) — Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. predicts that about 5.8 million New Yorkers will vote for governor in the November election and he hopes to poll "more than two million votes" and beat his three opponents.

The Liberal party candidate made his prediction Tuesday night on a WEVD radio broadcast "Victor Riesel Interviews."

He said the governor's race between himself, Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and the Democratic candidate, Frank D. O'Connor, will be close.

He claimed that O'Connor has "slipped badly" recently, adding: "I wouldn't have said this three weeks ago." In analyzing what he called O'Connor's decline, Roosevelt said it could be attributed to "a lack of confidence in the voters of his (O'Connor) ability to be governor of this state."

Roosevelt said he found "a deep sense of dissatisfaction" with Rockefeller among voters on his recent Upstate tour. Roosevelt lightly dismissed the Conservative candidate, Paul Adams.

Opposes Lottery
Sedita said he was "personally against the proposed state lottery," but would have to back it if the people voted for it. "I hate to think that we have to resort to gambling to raise funds to educate our children," he said. "We should come up with some more imaginative forms of raising revenue."

Asked if he considered himself an underdog against Lefkowitz, Sedita said, "Certainly. But I've never won easily before. My main strength is the ability to work hard. I've already visited 27 counties in New York and intend to visit all 62 before

Purple Street
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — "The street in front of my house has turned purple," the lady told the police.

It really had — "passionate purple," as one resident put it. Police quickly found the cause — a 50-gallon barrel of purple dye, the type used to make purple paper to line orange crates, had fallen from a passing truck and broken.

Then it began raining.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market embarked on another steep slide early this afternoon. Trading was moderate.

Losses of fractions to 1 or 2 points among leading issues were the general rule. Du Pont took a sizable loss exceeding 5 points, dragging the averages.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 7.29 at 786.80.

As in Tuesday's market, Du Pont set a bad example for blue chips while Motorola was an ill omen for the glamor issues. Motorola slid more than 5 points in further reaction to a prediction that second half earnings would be below those of a year ago.

Du Pont still seemed under the spell of a prediction in a financial weekly that it would show lower earnings for both the third quarter and the first nine months.

Most airlines took fractional losses.

Chrysler lost 1 1/2 on a block of 20,000 shares. Jones & Laughlin fell 1 1/2 to 46 on a block of 20,000 shares.

Irving Oltmann, chairman of the Sanitation Committee, presented a resolution that was unanimously passed recommending that the Board of Supervisors designate the Planning Board to make application to the State Department of Health to undertake a countywide sewerage planning needs study under Article 12-B of the Public Health Law, and also recommend that such study be com-

SCRIMSHAW is the name of the art form on display here. It's the art of carving or etching on whalebone and teeth with which whalers whiled away idle hours more than a century ago. The decorated tooth and the whale's jawbone in foreground, both on loan from the museum of The Marine Historical Association at Mystic Seaport, Conn., are included in a whaling exhibition at New York City's Hallmark Gallery.

Knife Is Under Study in Chicago

KENILWORTH, Ill. (AP) — A four-inch blade, was found Tuesday on a bluff overlooking a public beach next to Charles H. Percy's private beach.

Valerie was fatally beaten and stabbed to death Sept. 18 in the family's lakefront home. Percy is the Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate.

Police Chief Robert M. Daley expressed doubt, however, that the knife was used by the slayer. He said the girl's wounds appeared to have been made by a longer blade.

Percy's public relations aide, Scott Cohen, said Percy probably would resume his campaign sometime in October. Cohen said, "There is no question but that he will resume his campaign."

Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., who is seeking his fourth term in the November election, plans to resume his campaign tour early in October, an aide said.

Douglas, after the slaying of Percy's daughter, said he had called off all of his speaking engagements.

Percy and his family have been in seclusion at an undisclosed site since last Wednesday, the day after Valerie's funeral.

Sentenced to Die
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Jerry Michael Ward, 22, was sentenced Tuesday to die in the electric chair after a jury that heard precedent-setting testimony convicted him of murdering a high school girl.

The death penalty, returned by a Criminal District Court jury, means an automatic appeal.

Ward was found guilty of the Oct. 18, 1965, rape-slaying of Joyce Oster, 18.

Miss Oster, a junior at Westbury High School, disappeared from a shopping center parking lot after driving her mother to work. Her body was found a day later in a pasture.

She had been raped and shot four times in the back of the head, police said.

Judge Dan Walton admitted into evidence, for the first known time in Texas, testimony involving a process called nuclear activation analysis.

The system was developed at Texas A&M University.

Police chemist Floyd McDonald testified that hair found on the victim's body and Ward's hair were identical. He based his findings on the nuclear analysis of the hair.

Rocky Given Warm Reception on Campus
ONEONTA, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller received a warm reception today from about 400 students as he toured the campus of the State University at Oneonta.

The Republican governor, seeking a third term against the challenge of Democrat Frank D. O'Connor, was surrounded by the young people when he alighted from his helicopter.

This appearance on the campus here was the first of two stops at State University units. The governor's calendar included visits at the State University at Delhi and at Republican organization gatherings in Oneonta, Delhi, Troy and Albany.

In his speech at ceremonies dedicating the center, the governor portrayed himself as a friend of the college student.

Trespassing Charge
Charged with trespassing, three men appeared Tuesday before Justice of the Peace Harold Bailey, Town of Denning. They were booked on complaint of Game Warden Harold Bernstein of Phenicia. John Isidore Hobson, 27, of Groton, was fined $25 or 25 days in the county jail. He paid the fine. Harold Abel, 44, of the New York Military Academy, Cornwall, received the same sentence and in lieu of payment of the fine, was committed. Richard Dorr, 41, whose address was not listed, but was reported to be from the Military Academy, received an adjournment for hearing on Oct. 8 before Judge Bailey.

Diversification Should Not Be Overlooked

Q—"In our mid-50s, hoping to retire shortly and settle in Florida, we're thinking about the following securities with your approval. Where can we buy them? Florida Tel. Corp., Florida Pwr. & Light, Florida Growth Management, First Nat'l Bank of Orlando." J. H.

A—Seldom have I seen so much enthusiasm for a proposed new home site as is expressed in your list of Florida-based corporations as investment media. However, as I believe in geographic as well as industry diversification, I cannot go along with your plan. Furthermore, retired persons need maximum income from their investments, so you would do far better by holding some of the income issues I've recently mentioned.

Florida Power & Light and Florida Telephone are growth stocks with low yields. You might buy one or the other for a stake in Florida's development. Then you should consider national breadth for your portfolio, even though it is a modest one, and aim for five to six per cent return on your capital. Your bank could recommend a broker to buy your stocks for you.

Q—"My late husband left me considerable American Telephone stock. Though its rapid fall concerns me, I never felt it would fail its owners. Should I sell? Many of my friends have inherited this stock, so your advice will interest them also." M. P.

A—A considerable holding of one stock in a relatively small portfolio raises the twin problems of disproportionate allocation of capital and need for wider diversification. If these questions enhance your concern, I advise selling some of your Telephone shares and investing the proceeds where the yield will be higher and prospective long-term capital gains are an added attraction.

I agree with you that Mother Bell is not likely to fall her owners. She has suffered from the fact that the FCC investigation coincided with the general market slump. Shares have been unduly depressed even while earnings have continued to advance. Retain a reasonable proportion of Amer. Telephone.

Ulster, Sullivan Resort Owners Plan Annual Fete
A banner turnout of hotelmen, resort industry suppliers, politicians, tradesmen and friends of the Sullivan and Ulster County resort industry from all over the Northeast are projected for the Sullivan and Ulster Counties hotel association's forthcoming annual banquet scheduled for Columbus Day, Oct. 12.

The dinner is being held at Kutscher's Country Club, Monticello. Reservations for the annual event, according to association presidents Abe Gibber and Jack Kramer, have been heavy this year.

The occasion traditionally marks the conclusion of the region's summer season and the official start of the area's active fall and winter vacation convention time. It offers resort operators and their industry associates an opportunity to review the past and project the region's future.

Dinner is scheduled for 8 o'clock and will be preceded by cocktails and a smorgasbord at 7. The annual journal of the Sullivan County Hotel Association will be issued at the dinner.

For additional information about journal space or dinner reservations, contact Ben Kaplan, Sullivan County Hotel Association, PO Box No. 390, Monticello.

No Meeting Held
An executive meeting of members of Rosendale Town Board and Rosendale village officials, called for Monday evening for the purpose of discussing the village police problem and for better understanding and cooperation between the village and town, failed to materialize. When Supervisor Gerard DeFelicia arrived at the meeting he found one citizen present. Supervisor DeFelicia remarked that it was his understanding that the meeting was of an executive nature and he declined to enter into any discussion unless all citizens of the town were given an opportunity to sit in on that discussion. Remarking that he welcomed all citizens of the town to board meetings and hear open discussions, he declined to participate in any discussion in the presence of only one citizen. As a result the Monday evening executive session between the town board members and the village officials was called off.

Three Executives Die In Tennessee Air Crash
DUNLAP, Tenn. (AP)—A single-engine plane crashed on a mountaintop near here Tuesday, killing three executives of one of the nation's largest toy distributors.

The bodies of Earl Leitzsey, 41, O.S. Hillman, 45, and Robert Rayburn, 33, all of Columbia, S.C., were found inside the burning plane when officers arrived at the scene of the crash.

A witness said the plane's "engine was still going and it just went straight down," smashing into a dirt road on top of Daus Mountain about seven miles west of here.

The victims were all executives of Leitzsey Distributing Inc. The firm has offices in Columbia, Houston, New Orleans, Miami, Atlanta, and Nashville.

Suggests Legalized Prostitution in Viet

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A Vietnamese woman lawyer called today for legalized prostitution in South Viet Nam and cited a government brothel for soldiers in Pleiku as a successful example.

Mrs. Nguyen Thi Vui told a meeting of the Army-People Council that similar centers should be established throughout the country to curb venereal disease and the exploitation of young girls by pimps and madams.

The Army-People Council is an organization to improve relations between civilians and military personnel.

Mrs. Vui said the influx of foreign troops into Viet Nam had increased prostitution and recent government statistics showed that 40 per cent of these girls were suffering from venereal disease.

Prostitution was banned by the late President Ngo Dinh Diem in 1955.

Another council member, Lt. Col. Ngo Kinh, described the government brothel which was opened in Pleiku, in the central highlands, in January.

He said the establishment has 20 rooms, and the girls are provided by a matron under contract with the Pleiku Administrative Council. Vietnamese soldiers pay $80 piasters about 60 cents, for a ticket and foreign troops 300 piasters.

Seek Missing Car

GE Charged in Suit

NEW YORK (AP) — The Justice Department has filed a federal court antitrust suit accusing the General Electric Co. of fixing the prices of light bulbs. The government contended in its action that the company maintained bulb prices at "artificially high levels" through agency agreements with its wholesalers and retailers.

Responding to Tuesday's suit, the company commented in a statement that it was "convinced that this business practice is not only legal but that it has served the public well."

Plan Conference

Loeks, who assumed the duties of president of Pattern on Sept. 1, outlined a future work program and the directors were asked to consider assigning priorities on studies to be conducted by the organization.

Sillin announced that a study on the role of higher education in the development of the Mid-Hudson region was in its final stages of completion by Arthur D. Little, Inc., and was expected to be available in late October. The Board of Directors of Pattern had agreed at an earlier meeting to accept the report for review and recommendations.

O'Connor Pushes State Office on Air, Water Ills

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Frank D. O'Connor calls for creation of a new state agency to combat "the twin evils" of air and water pollution.

The Democratic candidate for governor added Tuesday that, if he were elected, he would seek to set up such a department.

At the same time, O'Connor criticized Gov. Rockefeller's efforts to combat water pollution, saying the Republican governor had "neglected" the problem until Democrats took control of the Legislature in 1965.

O'Connor, New York City Council president, attacked Rockefeller on the pollution issue during a flying trip to Rochester that capped a two-day Upstate tour.

Crowds were sparse in most of the 10 communities that he visited, while ranging across the Southern Tier and up into the Finger Lakes region.

At Norwich Tuesday, only a handful of people were present to greet O'Connor at local campaign headquarters.

At Colgate University, the next stop, about 200 students — most of them obviously under voting age — heard O'Connor speak on problems in higher education.

Then, in answer to a student's question whether he thought marijuana should be legalized, O'Connor replied:

"I don't want to take any novel positions, but I don't consider marijuana a narcotic."

He said marijuana was not habit-forming, as heroin is. "What should be done with it, I don't know. But the matter obviously would have to be studied."

Finally, he said he was not advising any student to use marijuana.

"Stay the heck away from it," he asserted.

In pollution matters, O'Connor said the Republican governor had made the administration's anti-pollution program part of a "massive brainwash advertising campaign" designed to sway voters in the November election.

O'Connor took that stand after visiting an overburdened sewage-treatment plant on Lake Ontario.

He said he soon would issue a detailed anti-pollution plan of his own, including proposals that would provide:

— Adequate financial support of pollution enforcement agencies.

— A requirement that industries indemnify the state when pollution kills fish or wildlife.

— Reexamination of regulatory agencies.

— A realistic program to protect future water resources of the state.

son's Southeast Asia policies, called again for a pause in the bombing of targets in North Viet Nam. He said Hanoi, Peking and Moscow all regard the bombing as a symbol of an expanded war.

The White House denied recent reports that there might be a pre-election halt in the air attacks. In support of this, an official said there is no sign that the Communist side is willing to de-escalate the fighting, a condition U.N. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg laid down for any cessation of the bombing.

Typhoon Veering

TOKYO (AP) — Typhoon June, originally reported heading for the main Japanese island of Honshu, appeared today to be veering harmlessly away into the North Pacific, Japanese weathermen said.

The typhoon, located 50 miles northeast of Iwo Jima Tuesday, packed 81-mile winds.

Search and rescue workers still searched for survivors from Typhoon Ida, the worst storm to hit Japan in seven years. Police listed 240 dead, 77 missing and about 1,000 injured.

Prior to coming to Kingston in 1955, Dr. Soper was school superintendent in Norwich for four years. In Norwich he had earlier served as elementary school principal and supervisor. He has been a member of the Superintendents' Council since 1961.

Dr. Soper began his teaching career at South Glens Falls, following graduation from Plattsburgh State Normal School. He earned his doctorate at Syracuse University after graduate study at New York University and State University College in Albany.

Past-president of the Mid-Hudson School Study Council, Dr. Soper is a member of the State University's Advisory Council on Doctorate Study. He is a member of the American Association of School Administrators, the National Education Association and the New York State Teachers Association.

of the Caribbean with gales, the storm churned westward at 17 miles an hour.

At 10 a.m. (EDT) it was 104 miles due south of San Juan, about 1,100 miles southeast of Miami, Fla.

If she held to that course, Hurricane Inez would barrel directly into the southern shore of the Dominican Republic not far from Santo Domingo, capital of the politically troubled country.

Beyond the Dominican Republic lies Haiti, where 4,000 persons were killed by Hurricane Flora in 1964.

The two countries, which share the islands of Hispaniola, are extremely mountainous, with some peaks of 10,000 feet. The mountains could break up the tightly coiled storm, the Weather Bureau said, saving the U. S. mainland from danger.

But the National Hurricane Center at Miami said it was too early to predict what might happen.

Inez gave Guadeloupe, a French possession on the eastern edge of the Caribbean, its second direct hit by a hurricane in two years. In 1964, Hurricane Cleo blasted the seven small islands with 81-mile winds, leaving 14 dead and many of the sugar and banana plantations in ruins.

Most communication lines to Guadeloupe were blacked out by the storm and airlines canceled flights, so direct reports of damage were sketchy.

Students Force Closing

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Student demonstrators have forced the closing of an American space exploration exhibit on the university campus at Allahabad, 350 miles southeast of New Delhi.

The students shouted against American involvement in Viet Nam and protested the Indian-American educational foundation which President Johnson proposed.

NEW ALLIGERVILLE FIREHOUSE — Members of the newly formed Alligerville Fire Company work on construction of 33 by 33 concrete block addition to the old schoolhouse which will house fire truck and equipment. The Alligerville district is the third in the Town of Rochester and will be the closest to the Rondout Valley High School building. The brick schoolhouse was built in 1878 and since 1953 has served as a community meeting place. The rooms will be retained as kitchen and meeting facilities.

Construction is being carried out by volunteer workers as donations permit. The 38 members of the new company currently are conducting several fund raising projects including a house-to-house campaign. Many of the casualties were Montagnards, mountain tribesmen from whose ranks U.S. special forces teams have drawn guerrillas to fight the Communists.

U.S. rescue and civic assistance teams were sent to the village to begin relief work.

The U.S. spokesmen said the two Marine planes were on an air strike against a specified target but dropped their bombs outside the target zone.

There was no immediate word on the cause of the error.

Unofficial sources estimate that a total of 146 South Vietnamese civilians have been killed and 233 wounded in similar bombing and strafing incidents in July and August.

The last village to be bombed by mistake was also in Quang Ngai Province. Military sources said then that Marine planes relying on faulty radar killed three civilians and wounded 30 on Aug. 16.

B52s Active Again

In other air activity, B52 bombers pounded North Vietnamese targets in the demilitarized zone today for the 12th time since they started bombing the buffer area July 30.

The big bombers from Guam struck at infiltration routes, a bivouac area and storage facilities in the zone separating North and South Viet Nam.

American planes struck up and down North Viet Nam Tuesday with 137 bombing missions. U.S. pilots sighted two Communist MIGs, but a U.S. spokesman said they did not engage the enemy planes.

Pilots claimed the day's raids resulted in destruction or damage to 32 cargo barges, 21 bridges, 10 anti-aircraft gun sites, 21 trucks and several oil depots and supply dumps.

Most of the anti-aircraft sites attacked were along the two main rail lines to Red China, running northeast and northwest of Hanoi.

Carrier Planes Attack

Navy planes from the carrier Oriskany attacked four North Vietnamese torpedo boats in the Gulf of Tonkin, and pilots reported sinking two and damaging the other two. The fighters pounced on the PT boats 40 to 50 miles northeast of Haiphong, North Viet Nam's major port.

Of the four new U.S. ground operations, one was under way in the Mekong Delta and the other three were being conducted northeast and northwest of Saigon within 40 miles of the capital.

A U.S. spokesman reported U.S. casualties light in all four new operations.

Just south of the demilitarized zone, a company of U.S. Marines clashed Tuesday in a day-long fire fight with a company of North Vietnamese regulars.

The spokesman said the North Vietnamese fought a "skillful delaying action" and appeared to be retreating north to the demilitarized zone, possibly as the rear guard delaying unit for a large force.

Chamber Begins

by the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce covers most of the important facets of how political organizations, political clubs, and political campaigns are operated, as well as explaining what type of role the individual can take in the party of his, or her, choice.

Chairman Wilson said that over a half a million Americans throughout the nation have had an opportunity of becoming better informed about politics through the Chamber of Commerce course on practical politics, and added that the course has inspired many individuals to become active workers in their respective political parties. Wilson concluded by saying that the entire Republican Party in Ulster County applauds and welcomes any type of action, partisan or non-partisan, which seeks to create a more well informed electorate.

County Pageant Patron Tickets Have Been Mailed

Patron tickets for this year's Miss Saugerties-Ulster County Pageant slated for October 22 at the Saugerties High School auditorium have been mailed to businesses, industries, professionals and individuals.

Receipts from these tickets are expected to push the scholarships for the winners to $1,000.

Mrs. Margaret L. Stegmayer, ticket chairman, said patron ticket returns should be made as quickly as possible to assure choice reserved seat locations. Patron tickets purchased may be exchanged by mail or phone for reserved seats. The patron ticket is not a ticket of admission to the pageant, Mrs. Stegmayer cautioned.

Mrs. Stegmayer may be reached by phone at home, 3 Garden Court, in the evening, or at Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce Office, P. O. Box 247, Saugerties, 12477, by mail.

Nominating applications for entries in the pageant may still be mailed to the Chamber. All Ulster County young ladies in the 17 to 27 year bracket are eligible. They must never have been married. Only one nomination is necessary for each candidate.

This year's Saugerties Queen, Miss Pamela Davis, will crown the new Miss Saugerties chosen by a panel of judges at the pageant.

Joseph Bosco Jr., is executive director and Albert V. Conte, local insurance adjuster, is the producer.

Others on this year's committee include Herbert Lachmann, judges; Richard Sabino, awards and finance chairman; Miss Kay Moose, Pageant secretary; and Albert Cawein, publicity director.
